New London, Jan. 12th, 1786.

Rev. and dear Sir:

Mr. Mumford just now delivered your letter to me, for which I thank you, and would directly appoint the time of meeting you, but that I wish first to hear from you on another subject. You know we are building a Church here, and I suppose you know how poorly able the congregation is to go through with it. I think I heard you express a benevolent design, at Middletown, of endeavouring to assist them by some collection for them among the members of the Church in Boston. If you think it practicable, and that my coming to Boston will have any good effect, for I presume they will not be alarmed at the appearance of so harmless a Bishop as I am, (it will save you the trouble of coming half way) I will go on to your Capital. A line by the return of the post will enable me to determine when to set out.

I am sensible of the justness of all your remarks and observations except one, the no necessity of another Bishop in New England. But, like you, I have so much to say that I must not begin on paper.

Make my regards acceptable to Mrs. Parker, and accept, dear Sir, of the best wishes of your affectionate Brother and humble Servant,

SAMUEL CONNECT.*

Well might Mr. Parker, as he learned more and more of the admirable temper and character of the Bishop of Connecticut, write almost indignantly to Dr. White in his defense. We may well note these words of one whose means of accurate judgment were surpassed by none:

"In these Northern States I much doubt whether a Bishop from England would be received, so great is the jealousy still remaining of the British nation. Of a Scotch Bishop there can be no suspicions, because wholly unconnected with the civil power themselves, they could introduce none into these States. Was it not for these reasons, I frankly confess I should rather have the succession from the English Church, to which we have always been accustomed to look as children to a parent."†

At the southward the changes in the Prayer Book, to which references in these letters allude, were at length spread before the world in the volume known ever since as the "Proposed Book." It was hardly out of the hands of the Committee under whose superintendence it appeared, ere further changes were suggested in different quarters, some more radical in their nature than those already proposed, and others looking to an adoption of some of the peculiarities of the Scotch Office, an edition of which, agreeably to the terms of the "Concordate," had been published by Bishop Seabury soon after his return to America. The account of these changes, as given in a letter from the celebrated Dr. William Smith, of Maryland, to Mr. Parker, of Boston, will serve to supply the loss of a letter of a similar nature addressed by the same to the Bishop of Connecticut.

Chester, Kent County, Maryland, 17th of April, 1786.

Dear Sir:

Dr. White having a more ready communication with you than I could have, he has, at the desire of our Committee for the Press, sent you the sheets of our revised Prayer Book, and I hope you will have the whole complete by the meeting of your Convention, which Dr. White writes me is to be about the end of this month. I trust that after a serious and candid consideration of what we have done, it will have the approbation of the worthy body, Clergy as well as Laity, who are to meet you in Convention; or that if there may be some things which you may judge could have been done otherwise or better, we can in future editions come to an easy agreement on this head, as would certainly have been the case had we been so happy as to have had your advice and assistance, as we expected, at the last Convention. I think there are few alterations which you did not wish. As Chairman of the Grand Committee for revising, &c., I had the alterations which you had proposed in your last meeting put into my hands the first day of our sitting; and you will see that I paid a full attention to them, and that we have agreed with you almost in every matter, except only respecting the Nicene Creed, and our Convention in Maryland, which met last week, have recommended the restoring that Creed also, so that either it or the Apostle's may be read at discretion, provided both be not used in one Service. The Maryland Convention have proposed also an addition in the consecration Prayer, in the holy Communion, something analogous to that of the Liturgy of Edward VI, and the Scots' Liturgy, invoking a blessing on the Elements of Bread and Wine, which was left out at the first review of the English Liturgy, it is said, at the instance of Bucer, and otherwise; because the Invocation favoured the doctrine of Transubstantiation, and it does now in the Scots' Liturgy, praying to bless and sanctify the Elements, that they may become the body and blood, &c. We have proposed to retain the Prayer, and yet avoid the exceptionable part, and it will run thus:

"Hear us, O Merciful Father, we most humbly beseech Thee, and with Thy Word and Holy Spirit vouchsafe to bless and sanctify these Thy creatures of Bread and Wine that we receiving the same, according to Thy Son, our Saviour Jesus Christ's holy Institution, &c."

This I think will be a proper amendment, and it perfectly satisfies such of our Clergy and people as were attached to the Scots' and other ancient Liturgies, all of which have an Invocation of a blessing on the Elements, as is, indeed, most reasonable and proper.

I am anxious to write you by this post to have a chance of your receiving this before the meeting of your Convention. I have, therefore, no time to be more particular. Where we have gone further than was hinted in the alterations you formerly sent us, viz., in the arrangement of the reading and singing Psalms, the Calendars and Rubrics, the collections of Hymns on Evangelical subjects, as a Supplement to the deficiencies of David's Psalms and other matters, which we* have set forth in the Preface. I say in all this I know you will exercise a candid and liberal judgment, and let me hear from you. We can only in the different States receive the book for temporary use, till our Churches are organized, and the book comes again under review of Conventions having their Bishops, &c., as the primitive rules of Episcopacy require.

Excuse this hasty scrawl from your affectionate Brother, &c., W^m. SMITH.†

P. S. I shall write to Bishop Seabury next Post.

A friendly letter from the Bishop of Connecticut, to Mr. Parker, gives us evidence of the interest felt, not only among Churchmen in New England, but in the mother-land, in the changes in the Liturgy, and in the peculiarities of the ecclesiastical Constitution adopted by the Philadelphia Convention.

New London, May 24th, 1786.

My Dear Sir:

I this day received a letter from the Rev. Mr. Boucher, Vicar of Epsom, in England, who is a good deal in the confidence of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and among other things of less moment, though among those things of less moment is, that my Reverence makes some noise in the Gentleman's Magazine, and, upon the whole, the world is on my side, he says:

"The two Archbishops and seventeen Bishops have signed an answer to the decent, but very injudicious application of the Convention in Philadelphia, of which this is the purport: that though they feel much for, and are cordially attached to their brethren in the United States, they can give no decided answer to their application, till they certainly know whether or no they are of the Church of England." Then follows: "Their reformed Liturgy is amazingly weak, (but I believe not heterodox) their discipline savouring much more of the Kirk than of our Church. But of these things our folks thought themselves not at liberty to take notice, till they had seen some authenticated copies of their proceedings."

The business, therefore, is postponed for some time; and unless they alter their plan of government, at an end in England. I humbly beg pardon of the Bishops in England. They are not so low in principles as I feared they were.

Accept my best wishes, and believe me, my dear Sir, your ever affectionate Brother and humble Servant,

SAMUEL, Bp. Connect.‡

In the mean time there had been growing up, through the influence of the Rev. Mr. Provoost, of New York, an alienation between the New England Churchmen, who recognized Dr. Seabury as their Bishop, and the Scots Episcopacy as equally valid with or even preferable to that of the Anglican Church, and their brethren of the Middle and Southern States, who were then seeking the Episcopate from England, and seemed bent on a radical revision of the Book of Common Prayer. It becomes necessary at this point to retrace our steps a little, to bring together the documents connected with this part of the subject.

It was in connection with the "Address" to the English Bishops, from the Philadelphia Convention, that the first letter of Mr. Provoost, in which allusion to the Bishop of Connecticut occurs, was sent to Dr. White. We print it from the Bishop White papers, as illustrating the strong opposition which by patient continuance in well doing, Bishop Seabury was, only after years of misunderstanding and unmerited censure, to overcome.

[Rev. Mr. Provoost to Rev. Dr. White.]

Dear and Rev. Sir:

The Address was sent by the packet with commendatory letters from the President of Congress and John Jay, Esq., who have interested themselves much in our business. I also enclose a copy I had taken of the Address, with some other papers relating to the Church in America, in a letter to the Bishop of Carlisle.

I expect no obstruction to our application but what may arise from the intrigues of the conjuring Bishop of Connecticut, who a few days since paid a visit to this State (notwithstanding he incurred the guilt of misprision of Treason, and was liable to confinement for life for doing so) and took shelter at Mr. James Livingston's, where he was seen only by a few of his most intimate friends; whilst he was there, a piece appeared in a newspaper under Livingston's direction, pretending to give an account of the late Convention, but replete with falsehood and prevarication, and evidently intended to excite a prejudice against our transactions, both in England and America.*

On Long Island, Dr. Cebra appeared more openly, preached at Hempstead Church, and obtained the person from Virginia I formerly mentioned, being

* The following is the article referred to by Mr. Provoost, and is printed verbatim et literatim. In the judgment of candid ones it will not be deemed to justify the language of Mr. Provoost:

"We are informed that about twenty of the Episcopal Clergy, joined by delegates of Lay gentlemen, from a number of the congregations in several of the Southern States, lately assembled in Convention at Christ Church, Philadelphia, revised the Liturgy of the Church of England, (adapting it to the late Revolution,) expunged some of the Creeds, reduced the thirty-nine Articles to twenty in number, and agreed on a letter addressed to the Archbishops and the Spiritual Court in England, desiring they would be pleased to obviate any difficulties that might arise on application to them for consecrating such respectable Clergy as should be appointed and sent to London from their body, to act as Bishops on the continent of America, where there is at present only one Prelate dignified with Episcopal powers, viz., the Right Rev.

assisted by the Rev. Mr. Moore, of Hempstead, and the Rev. Mr. Bloomer, of New Town, Long Island.

I relate these occurrences, that when you write next to England, our friends there may be guarded against any misrepresentations that may come to them from that quarter.

I am, with respects to Dr. Magaw and Mr. Blackwell, dear Sir,

Your most sincere Friend and humble Servant,

SAMUEL PROVOOST.*

New York, Nov. 27th, 1785.

In the mean time, the true friends of the American Church abroad were anxiously noting this threatened rupture between the North and South. In England, the civil disabilities of the Scottish Church not having been removed, it was impossible, without conflicting with the State, to recognize the Scottish Orders; and, as we have seen, even subsequently to Bishop Seabury's Ordination, the officials of the venerable Society for the Propagation of the Gospel studiously withheld the Episcopal title from him. But, at the same time, the initiative had already been taken, with the countenance of the most dignified of the English Clergy, which soon resulted in the removal of these disabilities; a result directly consequent upon the action of the Scottish Church, in having granted consecration to Seabury; and while these plans were already in a state of forwardness, there was no little pain felt among the more unprejudiced and better informed of the Clerical order, at the apprehended Schism in America. The Rev. Jacob Duché, of London, a refugee Clergyman from Philadelphia, and then on terms of familiar intercourse with the Archbishop of Canterbury, who had, earlier, been the medium of communication between Dr. White and the English Prelates, wrote, as follows, to his American correspondent, under date of March 25th, 1786.

— "In the mean time, I cannot but lament the prospect there seems to be of so early a schism among you. Here we could not recognize Dr. Seabury's Episcopal character. But with you there can remain but one point to be settled, and that is the validity of his consecration from proofs adduced of the uninterrupted Succession in the Church of Scotland. This once settled, I should think you might receive him, or at least invite him, by previously acknowledging his Episcopal Character, to join your General Convention and assist you and your future Bishops (from whatsoever source you may obtain them) in making such further regulations in discipline and worship as may finally introduce a general uniformity in the Episcopal Church throughout the States. If something of this kind is not done, I fear an unpleasant disunion may take place, and put a stop to the progress of your Church. Bishop Seabury, who was much with me during his residence here, appears to be a man of great moderation, strong judgment, good affections, and solid piety. And I really thought, from one of your letters to me, that you were all eager to receive him. But enough on this subject. You will excuse these hints, which are suggested from real affection to you all, and a sincere wish that unanimity and brotherly love may prevail and continue among you."

Mr. Duché's wise counsels were disregarded, and years passed ere the breach was healed, and the Church, again at unity in herself, was enabled to advance, from conquering to conquer, in the name of her Lord. Different, indeed, in style and temper, are the extracts we next present. Like the former, they are printed from the original manuscripts, preserved in the voluminous correspondence of Bishop White.

[Rev. Mr. Provoost to Rev. Dr. White.]

— I have been told that another gentleman has just past thro' this city, on his way to Connecticut for ordination, with recommendations from some Clergymen in Virginia. If private persons continue these recommendations to Dr. Cebra, the validity of whose consecration as a Bishop has neither been acknowledged or discussed in Convention, I fear that the bands which unite us together at Philadelphia will be converted into a rope of sand. —

SAM'L PROVOOST.

[Rev. Mr. Provoost to Rev. Dr. White.]

— If we may judge from appearances, Dr. Cebra and his friends are using every art to prevent the success of our application to the English Prelates. A close correspondence is kept up between him, Chandler,* &c., and a few days ago two large packets were seen at Rivington's, addressed to the Archbishop of Canterbury, one of which it was imagined came from Dr. Chandler. Governor Clinton assures me that Dr. Cebra is in the Bin of Attainder, a circumstance which I did not know when I mentioned him in a late letter. He certainly would not have run the risk he did by coming to New York, unless some political ends of consequence were to be answered by it. —

SAML PROVOOST.

But not only was the note of warning against this threatened rupture sounded from friends in England. The excellent Mr. Parker, Rector of Trinity, Boston, at that time the most influential of the Clergy of the States north of Connecticut, wrote to Dr. White earnestly deprecating the measures tending to separation. His testimony is conclusive, as to the regard in which Bishop Seabury was held throughout New England, and in the warmth of his support, as we have seen on a previous page, he throws out the idea, that it was even then doubtful "whether a Bishop from England would be received in these Northern States, so great was the jealousy still remaining of the British nation," while, he adds, that "of a Scotch Bishop there can be no suspicions; because, wholly unconnected with civil power themselves, they could introduce none into these States."^{*}

Arguments and advice alike failed to moderate the opposition of Mr. Provoost. Finding that the general recognition of the validity of Bishop Seabury's consecration occasioned frequent applications for ordinations, on the part of candidates for the Ministry from all parts of the country, he endeavoured to commit the various Conventions to some act whereby they would throw discredit upon the Scottish orders, by excluding the newly ordained Clergy from seats in those bodies. But even the members of his own Convention were far from being unanimous in support of these measures. Joining in the issue made by the more conservative Churchmen of New Jersey, who were acting under the advice of the Rev. Thomas Bradbury Chandler, D. D.—the Loyalist Rector of the Church at Elizabethtown, in that State, who had returned to the scenes of his long and faithful Ministry to die—the New York Clergy gradually gained courage to withstand the outside political pressure of the day, and, in some cases, openly espoused the cause of the Bishop of Connecticut, by inviting him to officiate in their respective Churches, and by warmly defending his course; while the well-directed efforts of others rendered Mr. Provoost's labors, for a radical change of the Common Prayer, completely inoperative.

In a letter addressed to Dr. White, early in the Spring of 1786, announcing the reception of a parcel of the "Proposed" Prayer Book, Mr. Provoost alludes to this opposition, and indicates the revulsion of feeling on the part of the Clergy.

"Such a strong party has been raised against the Alterations, that I am afraid we should not be able to adopt the Book at present, without danger of a Schism. The ostensible objection is, that they were made without the sanction of a Bishop, but the Thanksgiving for the Fourth of July, in all probability, is one principal cause of the opposition."^{*}

The impatiently awaited packet at length brought the response of the English Prelates to the Address of the Philadelphia Convention. It was far more favourable than had been anticipated, and at once gave fresh vigour to the efforts for the Succession in the English line. Hurrying off a copy of the communication from England to Dr. White, by the hands of a Presbyterian Minister travelling southward, Mr. Provoost briefly remarks:

"Pains have been taken to misrepresent our proceedings, yet I flatter myself, from the seeming candour of the Bishops, that these misrepresentations will do us no material injury"— and defers till a few days after, the following more elaborate defense of his hostility toward Seabury and the Scottish line:

— Your best friends in this city approve of your conduct in not admitting persons ordained by Dr. Cebra to your pulpit. The Clergy of New Jersey act with the same precaution. Mr. Spragge and Mr. Rowe were not to be received as members of their Convention.

The Archbishop, by not choosing to answer private inquiries, has left the matter in dubio, and you may still act literally, even in that respect, upon the principle of sub Judice lis est. But I really think our line of conduct is plain before us. As the General Convention did not think proper to acknowledge Dr. Cebra as a Bishop, much less as a Bishop of our Church, it would be highly improper for us, in our private capacities, to give any sanction to his ordinations. It would also be an insult upon the Church and the truly venerable Prelates to whom we are now making application for the Succession. For my own part, I carry the matter still further, and as a friend to the liberties of mankind, should be extremely sorry that the conduct of my brethren here should tend to the resurrection of the sect of Nonjurors, (nearly buried in oblivion,) whose slavish and absurd tenets were a disgrace to humanity; and God grant that they may never be cherished in America, which, as my native country, I wish may always be sacred to Liberty, both civil and religious.

I am, with sincere regard, dear and Rev. Sir,

Your most affectionate Brother and humble Servant,
SAM'L PROVOOST.*

New York, May 20th, 1786.

Following closely upon this communication was another, revealing a latitude of theological belief, of itself quite enough to account for the fears of the Bishop of Connecticut, that the doctrines of the Catholic Faith were likely to be tampered with in the Conventions at the South.

— "I am sorry to find that your Convention has not been without its altercations. The doctrine of the Trinity has been a bone of contention since the first ages of Christianity, and will be to the end of the world. It is an abstruse point, upon which great charity is due to different opinions, and the only way of securing ourselves from error, is to adhere to Scripture expressions, without turning into definitions. The following lines of the Bishop of Llandaff, in his late collection of Theological Tracts, shew a truly Christian and liberal spirit:

"Newton and Locke were esteemed Socinians; Lardner was an avowed one; Clarke and Whiston were declared Arians; Bull and Waterland were professed Athanasians; who will take upon him to say that these men were not equal to each other in probity and Scriptural knowledge? And if that be admitted, surely we ought to learn no other lesson, from the diversity of their opinions, except that of perfect moderation and good will towards all those who happen to differ from ourselves. We ought to entertain no other wish, but that every man may be allowed, without loss of fame or fortune, et sentire quæ velit, et quæ sentiat discere. This absolute freedom of Inquiry, it is apprehended, is the best way of investigating the sense of Scripture, the most probable means of producing an uniformity of opinion, and of rendering the Gospel dispensation as intelligible to us in the 18th century, as we presume it was to the Christians in the first."

"Strong objections, in my opinion, may be made against the validity of the Nonjuring consecrations in general, and stronger still against Dr. Cebra's, in particular. I never had the pleasure of any conversation with you upon this subject, and real want of time obliges me to waive the discussion of it at present. The line of conduct our delegates are to observe towards the persons ordained by the Doctor will, I hope, be pointed out to them before they go to Philadelphia.

SAM'L PROVOOST.*

New York, June 10th, 1786.

That "line of conduct" was marked out by the following resolution, passed in Convention, in St. Paul's Chapel, New York, three days after. It was the closing business of the Session, as recorded in the thin, dingy pamphlet giving the records of the opening meetings of that Convention, whose doings, at a single gathering, now-a-days, require a volume for their publication.

"Resolved, That the persons appointed to represent this Church, be instructed not to consent to any acts that may imply the validity of Dr. Seabury's Ordinations."

The first Session of the General Convention of 1786 was barely organized, when the Rev. Robert Smith, of South Carolina, moved:

"That the Clergy present produce their Letters of Orders, or declare by whom they were Ordained."

This motion, as we are informed by Bishop White, in his "Memoirs" of the Church,† was aimed at the Rev. Joseph Pilmore, a convert from Methodism, who had received Orders from Bishop Seabury, and the Rev. William Smith, of Stepney Parish, Maryland, who had been Ordained in Scotland, by a Bishop of the Church from whence Seabury had obtained consecration. The judicious application of the "Previous Question," moved by Dr. Smith and seconded by Dr. White, precluded the discussion which it was anticipated would grow out of this motion, and the resolution itself was lost.

Mr. Provoost, not satisfied with this expression of the will of the Convention, soon came directly to the point with a motion—

"That this Convention will resolve to do no act that shall imply the validity of Ordinations made by Dr. Seabury."

* From the Bishop White Correspondence.

† Second edition, pp. 115, 116.

† From the Bishop White Correspondence.

Again the "Previous Question" cut off discussion, and the main question was determined in the negative, New York, New Jersey and South Carolina, alone supporting it.

So determined was the feeling of opposition to Bishop Seabury shown in these measures, that a compromise resolution was unanimously carried, on motion of Dr. White, seconded by Rev. Robert Smith, of South Carolina, to the effect—

"That it be recommended to this Church, in the States here represented, not to receive to the Pastoral Charge, within their respective limits, Clergymen professing Canonical subjection to any Bishop, in any State or country, other than those Bishops who may be duly settled in the States represented in this Convention."

This resolution, as explained by its author in the "Memoirs," so frequently referred to, (vide pp. 115, 116, of the second edition,) was offered with a view to meet the allegation made on the floor of Convention, that Bishop Seabury required a pledge of Canonical obedience from those who received Holy Orders at his hands, even though they might reside outside the limits of his immediate Diocese. The Rev. Mr. Pilmore, the only one in the body who had received Orders from the Bishop of Connecticut, expressly denied this charge, and the resolution for which, as Bishop White expressly states, there was never "any ground," other than this apprehension, was carried without opposition.

The following day, the Rev. Robert Smith, with a perseverance worthy a far better cause, returned indirectly to the attack, and there was passed, unanimously, on his motion, the following resolution :

"That it be recommended to the Conventions of the Church, represented in this General Convention, not to admit any person as a Minister, within their respective limits, who shall receive Ordination from any Bishop residing in America, during the application now pending to the English Bishops for Episcopal consecration."

This time-serving action of the Convention, and particularly this last resolution, drew forth from Parker, of Boston, a plain-spoken reproof. It was contained in a long letter under date of Sept. 15th, 1786, addressed to Dr. White, and is as follows :

"I am very sorry to see with what coolness and indifference some of the gentlemen in your Convention speak of Bishop Seabury, because I foresee that this conduct must create a schism in the Church. However eligible it may appear to them to obtain the Succession from the English Church, I think there can be no real objection to Dr. Seabury's Consecration, or to the validity of Orders received from him ; and I am firmly of the opinion that we should never have obtained the Succession from England, had he or some other not have obtained it first from Scotland.

"When the Convention discouraged the settling more Clergymen in your States under Bishop Seabury's Ordinations, if they meant to limit it during the pending of your application to England, and were actuated herein from the principle of not doing anything that might possibly give umbrage to the English Bishops, it may be a prudent step ; but if it was not from this motive, it seems to be a declaring war against him at a very early period, and forebodes a settled and perpetual enmity."*

The following fragment of a letter, which we print from the original draft, and which may not ever have been sent, gives us further information of the opposition to Bishop Seabury by a portion of the Church in New York and at the South :

[Rev. Dr. Wm. Smith, of Maryland, to Bishop Seabury.]

July 12th, 1786.

Right Reverend and dear Sir :

Since the receipt of your obliging letter, in answer to mine by the Rev. Mr. Ferguson, near a year ago, I have written several letters to you, but without having been favoured with any reply. Some of my letters were rather short hints or notes, for your own private information, that you might not be deceived by any candidates coming to you from this state, without sufficient title or testimonials. These did not require any immediate answer. But my letters to you on Mr. Armor's business were of another nature, and merited some other regard than ordaining here, in the state of mind, in which he then was, or without any title whatever to any living, or any proper testimonials from the Clergy in this state, where he had last resided, and that, too, in a public seminary of learning. All this I cannot but consider as a departure from that caution at least, which you were pleased to declare you would strictly observe, in your letter to me, which, at your desire, I laid before our convention of October, 1785. The manner in which you required him to sign his licence, viz : to be subject to your authority, (till there was some other sufficient or proper Episcopal jurisdiction or authority in the state where he might officiate) was making yourself the only judge of what was a proper Episcopal authority, and trying to extend your jurisdiction beyond the state of Connecticut ; although, in your said letter, you have declared that you had taken your station there, and wished not, nor would seek to extend your authority beyond that state.

If Mr. Arnor produced you any thing by way of title, he was guilty of a gross imposition; for the certificate which he got from a few persons about Marcus Hook, in Pennsylvania, where he was born, was not the act or deed, even of one Vestry of the three congregations of which the late Mr. Craig's Mission consists; nor could the names of any of them be known to you; and the Vestries of these Churches, upon their being informed that he had declared to you that he had a title or Institution from them, so far disapproved it, that he never preached but in one of the Churches on his return; not being invited to preach in any of the others: and he soon went to the southward, viz: as far as Charlestown, Carolina, and has lately returned from thence, having in Charlestown made himself known to none of the Clergy; nor having engaged in any parish during his long tour of seven or eight months. Having arrived here in May last, in a better state, both of body and mind, than when he left us, he hath got a temporary reinstatement in his old professorship in this College, and if it shall please God to continue him in the state in which he now is, both of health and vigor of mind, he will prove an useful, as he is an able professor: and I shall most willingly ascribe all his past conduct, in the business of his obtaining Orders, as well as in sundry other matters, to the state of mind in which he then was and had been at other periods of his life before that period; of all which I fully and truly apprised you, I trust, with all that tenderness and regard which I owed to a young man who had been my pupil, and whom I had promoted to every station and office which he had filled since he finished his collegiate education under my direction. And I shall not be wanting in my endeavours still to serve him, as far as my duty in this College will permit. But enough of this subject, on which I should not have been so particular, had there not been complaints at our late Convention, in June last, that you are every day becoming less careful in looking, either for proper testimonials, or titles to any settlement, in the persons you ordain; that some very illiterate persons, ignorant Methodists and others have been sent out by you as preachers; that you take large sums, ten guineas and upwards, for ordaining; or, at least, when money is offered, you do not make the reply of that good first Bishop Peter—Acts viii., 20; that you interfere in the Church governments in other states, by sending your Pastoral Letters or Charges to some of those ordained by [you,] advising them that they must consider themselves under your authority, and submit to no alterations of the Liturgy, &c., proposed by the present Convention, &c., which tends to create divisions in our Church here; which is otherwise very well agreed in all material points; while at the same time you are said, of your own authority, to be making very great alterations from the English Liturgy, especially in the administration of the blessed Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, striving, as Archbishop Laud did, to introduce again some of those supersessions of which it had been cleared at the Reformation.

In consequence of these and some such-like charges against you, (which I think it just and candid to mention to you) both Clergy and Laity of sundry of the states came to our late Convention with sentiments far from being very favourable to you, and some of them expressly intimated to consent to no act that would admit, or even imply the validity of the ordinations made by you.

To some of us at first this appeared to be calling in question the validity of the Scots Episcopacy, from which yours is derived; and we could not have suffered this to be made a question of, especially before a body neither having the materials nor the competency of judging in a matter of this kind. But we were informed that the objection did not lie against the Scots Episcopacy, but against yours, as schismatical; you having broke off from the English Bishops, to whom, as being then an English subject, and resident in London, you owed obedience, &c.; and, deriving your consecration from Bishops whose consecration of English subjects is, by the laws of England, deemed invalid, &c.

I do not state this in the exact law terms, nor did we consider it as wanting any law answer. For the reply was easy: for even admitting a schismatical consecration by Bishops having incontestible succession and authority, the acts of the person so consecrated by them are held good as to the ordaining others for the Ministry, although not for their government afterwards, especially when they are removed under a foreign ecclesiastical and temporal jurisdiction.

This whole business, therefore, was summed up in the Convention, by a resolve to the following purpose, for I have not yet a copy of the original:

— That no person shall be received as a Clergyman in any of the states now united, who shall hold himself to be under the jurisdiction or government of any foreign or other Bishop, than such as may be resident in some of the states so united, and under the particular direction of the Conventions of the states in which they reside, till a Bishop or Bishops shall be resident in them.

This, I say, is the substance of the resolve. The original you may probably have before this time. It is also further understood, that no Clergyman educated in any of the states, and going to any other state or country for Holy Orders, will be received, unless he carries with him from his own state, such certificates as the State Conventions, from time to time, may think proper.

The rule in Maryland is as follows, which I was directed to transmit to you; and I also requested the Rev. Mr. Smith of Somerset, in Maryland, to send you a copy of the same, with such other information as he might think necessary, from Philadelphia, as I could not find time, on the breaking up of the late Convention, to write to you from that city.

The foregoing notice, I hope, will put you on your guard against one S. Kelly, who, I hear, has gone to you from this state for Orders, and who, I believe, has not the name of any Clergyman of this state to recommend him. At least he has not Dr. West's; and as to mine, as he

But the Bishop of Connecticut was not without friends in New York. The amiable Benjamin Moore, whose friendship to Dr. Seabury was of long standing, and founded on a correct estimate of his worth, piety and zeal, in writing to his Boston correspondent of the departure for England of the two Bishops-elect, for consecration, gives us his view of this opposition, and its probable results :

[From the Rev. Mr. Moore to the Rev. Mr. Parker.]

New York, Nov. 4, 1786.

My dear Sir :

The day before yesterday Dr. White and Dr. Provoost embarked on board the Speedy packet for Old England, with the expectation of obtaining consecration from the English Bishops. You know there is an act of Parliament authorizing either of the Archbishops, together with such of the Bishops as they may desire to call to their assistance, to consecrate Bishops for the American States. When his Grace of Canterbury sent a copy of the act in a letter which accompanied it, he intimated, that it was expected, before persons were sent for Episcopal Orders, every obstacle would be removed, by a full compliance with the requisitions which had been made. In the late Convention at Wilmington all objections were obviated, excepting only that it was resolved not to re-admit the Athanasian Creed. The gentlemen, however, thought they might venture to go, and I dare say they will succeed. It sometimes happens, in doubtful cases, that to act as if you were sure of success, is the most effectual way to obtain it. Possunt quia posse videntur. Dr. Griffith, who is another Bishop elect, through some mistake, did not obtain the necessary testimonials from the State Convention, and is, on that account, detained a few months longer.

I have my fears, but am not so very apprehensive as you appear to be, that a schism must take place in our Church. A few people in this State, from old grudges on the score of politics, have determined to circumscribe, as far as they possibly can, the authority of Bishop Seabury. But they will not be able to effect their purpose to any great degree. His Episcopal powers have already been acknowledged by most of the Southern States, and Truth and Justice will, in due time, get the better of Prejudice and Partiality.

Your affectionate Friend and Servant, B. Moore.*

served some time as an usher in this College, he wrote to me from Somerset; but as he was a probationer in Ireland among the Presbyterians, as yet unacquainted with our Church Service, and seems not to desire much acquaintance with it, nor had got the names of Mr. Bowie, Dr. Keene, and Mr. Smith, who are the Clergy in the counties of Somerset and Dorset, where he has last resided; nor do I know that he has any invitation to any parish here—I say, for all these reasons, I declined to recommend him; nor would my recommendation alone have been sufficient—and, for the like reasons, I hope you will think it proper to reject him, also, as applying to you irregularly.

It hath been complained of, also, that you ordained Mr. Byzzet with the name only of one Clergyman to his certificate, and no title. But Mr. Byzzet is a valuable young man, and you probably knew some of the Scots Clergy where he last resided, and who were the proper persons to sign his credentials.

Another gentleman, Mr. Thos. Gordon, the nephew of my good friend, the Rev. Dr. John Gordon, of Talbot county, the oldest of the Maryland Clergy, called on me three days ago for a letter to you. But he is and has been for some months, quite deranged in his understanding, so that his own uncle would not recommend him. And yet, for many years past he has been a worthy Schoolmaster and Reader in some of our Churches. You will not ordain him at present.*

The personal feeling evinced by this letter, and the strange unwillingness to coalesce with their brethren of Connecticut, displayed by the Philadelphia Convention, served to widen the breach between Bishop Seabury and the Churches of New England, and those of New York, Pennsylvania and the South. Mr. Bass, of Newburyport, thus plainly and forcibly comments, in a letter to Mr. Parker, on this course of conduct :

[The Rev. Mr. Bass to the Rev. Mr. Parker.]

Newbury Port, Sept. 30th., 1786.

Dear Sir :

I have perused your enclosed papers, and find that our Southern brethren are like to obtain consecration for their Bishops elect; and also, by a motion respecting Dr. Seabury, that they are nearly ripe for making a schism in the American Church. Wiser! What a ridiculous figure must they make in the eyes of every sectary or anti-Episcopalian! In the name of wonder, what objections can be made against the validity of Dr. S's ordinations, that may not as well be made against those of the English Bishops?

for consecration were finally defeated—their reception of the Episcopate in England, and their return to their respective dioceses, without any indication of a desire for the union of all the Churches in the United States, seemed to the New England Churchmen a clear expression of a decided unwillingness to come to unity and uniformity.

The following winter the Convocation of the Connecticut Clergy met at Wallingford, Feb. 27th.* It was there decided to send another Presbyter to Scotland for consecration, as co-adjutor Bishop to the over-worked Dr. Seabury. The old and worthy Jeremiah Leaming, D. D., was first chosen, but he declined in consequence of age and infirmities. The eminently pious Richard Mansfield was next elected by the suffrages of his brethren; but he felt the burden too heavy to be borne, and the choice finally fell on the Rev. Abraham Jarvis, who was deputed to go to Scotland "To obtain consecration, that the Episcopal office might be canonically conferred." † We gather from incidental allusions to the matter, in the correspondence of the time, that it was part of the plan of the Bishop of Connecticut, that a Bishop elect for Massachusetts and New Hampshire should soon follow; and all eyes looked to the excellent and zealous Mr. Parker, of Boston, to complete the canonical number for the transmission of the Episcopate in the Scottish line.

This was, however, to be a last resort. It formed no part of the intention of Bishop Seabury to keep aloof from his fellow Churchmen, if union was possible on terms honorable to himself and the Church from which his orders were derived. To this end he deferred the action contemplated by the Convocation, and on the arrival of the newly consecrated Bishops of New York and Pennsylvania, he addressed to his most unscrupulous opponent, Bishop Provost, a letter of congratulation, and an offer of terms of union. This letter, a noble peace-offering from a noble peacemaker, we give below. It is copied from the MS. Letter-Book of the good Bishop, where it still remains in his own hand-writing, a testimony to his efforts for union and peace.

* The particulars of the proceedings of this Convocation are taken from a racy letter of the Rev. Roger Viets, who was present at the session. The original letter is preserved among the papers of Bishop Parker, to whom it was addressed.

[Bishop Seabury to Bishop Provost.]

May 1, 1787.

Right Reverend and dear Sir:

It is with pleasure I take this opportunity of presenting my congratulations on your safe return to New York, on the success of your application to the English Archbishops, and on your recovery from your late dangerous illness.

You must be equally sensible with me of the present unsettled state of the Church of England in this country, and of the necessity of union and concord among all its members in the United States of America; not only to give stability to it, but to fix it on its true and proper foundation. Possibly nothing will contribute more to this end, than uniformity in worship and discipline among the Churches of the different states. It will be my happiness to be able to promote so good and necessary a work; and I take the liberty to propose, that before any decided steps be taken, there be a meeting of yourself and Bishop White and me, at such time and place as shall be most convenient, to try whether some plan cannot be adopted that shall, in a quiet and effectual way, secure the great object which I trust we should all heartily rejoice to see accomplished. For my own part I cannot help thinking, that the most likely method will be, to retain the present Common Prayer Book, accommodating it to the civil Constitution of the United States. The government of the Church, you know, is already settled. A body of Canons will, however, be wanted, to give energy to the government, and ascertain its operation.

A stated Convocation of the Clergy of this state is to be held at Stamford, on the Monday after Whitsun-day. As it is so near to New York, and the journey may contribute to the re-establishment of your health, I should be much rejoiced to see you there; more especially as I think it would promote the great object, the union of all the Churches.

May God direct us in all things!

Believe me to be, Rt. Rev. and dear Sir,

Your affectionate Brother and humble Servant,

SAMUEL, Bishop of Connecticut.

A letter, similar to this Christian overture for peace and union, was addressed to Bishop White, and is still preserved among his correspondence. In what manner the Bishop of New York received the proposition of his Episcopal brother of Connecticut, for a conference and comprehension, we are unable to say. Bishop Seabury, in a letter written a few days afterward, to his friend in London, William Stevens, Esq., thus freely expresses his views on the subject :

[Bishop Seabury to William Stevens, Esq., Old Broad Street, Royal Exchange, London.]

New London, May 9th, 1787.

My very dear Sir :

It is so long since I heard from any of my friends in London, that I cannot help feeling some uneasiness on that account. I did hope that I should have received some intelligence respecting the two American Bishops, and particularly, whether they were laid under any restrictions? and, if so, what those restrictions were? Those gentlemen have returned, but I do not find their arrival has made much noise in the country. I have written to them both, proposing an interview with them, and an union of the Church of England through all the States, on the ground of the present Prayer Book, only accommodating it to the civil Constitution of this country; and the government of the Church to continue unaltered as it now is, with a body of Canons to give energy to it, and direct its operation. I know not what effect this overture may have. But my fears are greater than my hopes. Every thing I can fairly do to procure union and uniformity, shall certainly be done.

My last letters were accompanied by a packet of charges, directed to my good friend, the Rev. Mr. Boucher, which I hope came safely to him. I shall set out in a week to attend a meeting of the Connecticut Clergy at Stamford. I have invited the two Bishops to visit us; and as I shall then know how my proposals are likely to be received, I will from Stamford write to Mr. Boucher by the way of N. York. This goes via Boston. —

Your affectionate, humble Servant,

S. Bp. Conn.

The response of Bishop White to Bishop Seabury's proposal is contained in a letter from the Bishop of Connecticut to Mr. Parker, of Boston, which we give below :

[Bishop White to Bishop Seabury.]

Philadelphia, May 21st, 1787.

There is nothing I have more at heart than to see ye members of our communion, throughout ye United States, connected in one system of Ecclesiastical Government; and if my meeting of you, in concurrence with Bishop Provost, can do anything towards ye accomplishment of this great object, my very numerous engagements shall not hinder me from taking a journey for ye purpose. But I must submit it to your consideration whether it will not be best previously to understand one another, as to ye views of ye Churches in which we respectively preside.

We have been informed (but perhaps it is a mistake) that ye Bishop and Clergy of Connecticut think our proposed Ecclesiastical Constitution essentially wrong, in ye leading parts of it. As ye general principles on which it is founded were maturely considered and compared with ye maxims which prevail in ye ecclesiastical system of England, as they have received ye approbation of all ye Conventions southward of you, and of one to the northward; as they were not objected to by ye Archbishops and Bishops of ye English Church, and as they are generally thought among us essential to ye giving of effect to future ecclesiastical measures, I do not expect to find ye Churches in many of ye States willing to associate on any plan materially different from this. If our Brethren in Connecticut should be of opinion that ye giving of any share of ye Legislative power of ye Church to others than those of ye Episcopal order is inconsistent with Episcopal Government, and that ye requiring of ye consent of ye Laity to ecclesiastical laws is an invasion of Clerical rights, in this case, I see no prospect of doing good in any other way than contributing all in my power to promote a spirit of love and peace between us; although I shall continue to cultivate ye hope of our being brought, at some future day, to an happy agreement.

As to ye Liturgy, if it should be thought advisable by ye general body of our Church to adhere to ye English Book of Common Prayer (ye political parts excepted) I shall be one of ye first, after ye appearance of such a disposition, to comply with it most punctually.

Further than this, if it should seem ye most probable way of maintaining an agreement among ourselves, I shall use my best endeavours to effect it. At ye same time, I must candidly express my opinion, that ye review of ye Liturgy would tend very much to ye satisfaction of most of ye members of our communion, and to its future success and prosperity. The worst evil which I apprehend from a refusal to review is this, that it will give a great advantage to those who wish to carry ye alteration into essential points of doctrine. Reviewed it will unquestionably be in some places, and ye only way to prevent its being done by men of ye above description is ye taking it up as a general business. I have been informed that you, Sir, and our Brethren in Connecticut, think a review expedient, although you wish not to be in haste in ye matter. Our Brethren in Massachusetts have already done it. The Churches in ye States southward of you have sufficiently declared their sentiments; for even those which have delayed permitting ye use of ye new book, did it merely on ye principles of ye want of Episcopal order among them.

If, Sir, we should be of a different opinion in any matter, I hope we shall be so candid as mutually to think it consistent with ye best intentions, and a sincere desire to promote ye interest of our holy religion. This justice you have always received from, &c., &c.,

(Signed)

WM. WHITE

The above, my dear Sir, is the whole of a letter from Bishop White, that relates to the subject. It is in answer to one from me to him, in which I proposed a personal interview with him and Bishop Provost, previously to any decided steps being taken respecting the Liturgy and Government of the Church, and mentioned the old Liturgy as the most likely bond of union. I send it to you without a comment, and shall be glad of your opinion respecting it. — be the subject of discussion at a Convocation to be held, or already held at Philadelphia. Mr. Clarke, whom you will doubtless see at Stamford, will give you all the information of this kind you can wish. —

Your affectionate, humble Servant,

I remain, Sir, with respect and esteem,
Your sincere Friend and Brother,

S. PARKER.

P. S. Pray do you intend to get the Lawn in Scotland or America?

REV. BELA HUBBARD.

The consecration of a Bishop for Massachusetts, and the selection of Mr. Parker as the first to fill this sacred office there, were desired, not only by the Bishop and Clergy of Connecticut, but also by the far-seeing Bishop White, who seems to have judged, rightly enough, as the sequel proved, that this step once determined upon, would be the connecting link between the separate Churches. We have already noticed the frequent allusion to this subject in Bishop Seabury's letters, and those of the other Connecticut Clergy. We append, in passing, an extract from a letter to Mr. Parker, from the Bishop of Pennsylvania, in which this action is strongly urged, on the very grounds we have indicated :

"I wish most sincerely that Massachusetts would unite with us, and choose a person for consecration; not merely as it would tend to cement the Church throughout the whole continent, but because I think it would add to the wisdom of our determinations, whenever a General Convention shall be had for the final settlement of our ecclesiastical system.*

In carrying out these pacific views, the amiable Bishop of Pennsylvania entered into correspondence with the venerable Jeremiah Leaming of Stratford, one of the most influential of the Connecticut Clergy, and a bosom friend of Bishop Seabury. We regret that the letters written by Bishop White are lost; but their tenor can be readily inferred from the earnest replies which we are about to introduce. These replies prove conclusively the hearty concurrence of the Clergy of Connecticut in the views and conduct of their Bishop.

[Rev. Jeremiah Leaming to Bishop White.]

Stratford, July 9th, 1787.

My very dear and Rev. Sir:

I have received your kind favour of the 21st of last month, for which you have my hearty thanks. Your views of a union of the Church in these States gives

* From the original letter among the Bishop Parker Correspondence.

Mr. Parker's comments on this reply are comprised in a familiar letter to the Rev. Bela Hubbard, which is full of interest from the information it gives us, on many points of discussion then agitating the minds of Churchmen in New England and the Middle States. We print it from the original draft in Mr. Parker's hand-writing which, as was his wont, he carefully preserved among his papers, for future reference.

[Rev. Mr. Parker to Rev. Mr. Hubbard.]

Boston, June 1, 1787.

Dear Sir:

Your favour by Mr. Miles was duly received, upon his arrival in town, and I have to return you my thanks for the same. I had previously heard from Bishop Seabury, that he had made an overture to the Brethren of the Lawn to meet him at Stamford; but my faith in their acceding to the proposal was not very strong: though I think had not the invitation been made quite so soon after their arrival, and before matters were arranged among themselves, Bishop White would have accepted it, he having frequently expressed his mind to me by letter, of a readiness to coalesce with his Northern Brethren and to form one Church in all the essentials of doctrine, discipline and worship. Some strong prejudices, upon the old score of politics, still remain in the minds of the New York gentlemen against Bishop Seabury, and therefore of their Bishop your dependent saith not. The grand obstacle to a union, I foresee, will be in matters of government. The Southern States have admitted Laymen to take part with them; Connecticut has not. They cannot rid themselves of the Lay brethren, and you will not admit Laymen. This will keep you apart. I impatiently wait to hear the result of your meeting.

I can easily pardon you for mentioning the request of Mr. Green, respecting the avails of his pamphlet, but not so easily somebody else for the necessity of its being mentioned. The case is, as long ago as last April twelvemonth, I paid Bishop Seabury for all the pamphlets that I had sold, which indeed were not all you sent, supposing he would settle the matter with his printer. I cannot now recollect the exact number, but think it was fifteen, at one shilling a piece. The remainder, except a few for some particular persons whom I thought not so well able to purchase, I have now by me. They are a species of merchandise that does not meet with a quick sale with us. Mr. Ogden is settled at Portsmouth, having out-manoeuvred Mr. Clarke in getting that Parish: they continue much pleased with him, and I hope he will do good. To prevent Mr. Clarke's taking a fruitless journey this way, being disappointed at Portsmouth, I engaged him to assist me for six months, which time being almost expired, and he wishing to be at the Convocation, he took his leave of us last week. He was in general very well liked, and had our fund not been deranged by the late war, and his voice a little stronger, we should have fixed him as an Assistant Minister at Trinity Church. In answer to the latter part of your letter, I can only say two words, Nolo Episcopari.

Mr. Freeman still continues at the Chapel Church, so called; his congregation very small, and they uneasy at his not being able to obtain Orders. He has made an overture to Bishop Provoost on this head, and the matter, I hear, is to me the greatest pleasure, and you are pleased to desire me to consider what will be the best method to accomplish the end desired, and to communicate it to you. It appears to me, that if you, Bishop Provost and Bishop Seabury could have a private meeting, all matters might be adjusted in such a manner, that a union might be easily effected. For all those difficulties which disturb that mutual concord, which ought to be among Christians, have their rise from some little misunderstandings. And provided the parties were brought together, and would explain themselves to each other, in meekness and love, all disagreeable passions would subside and be extinguished forever.

But to reconcile differences, when they are come to their full growth, is attended with so many difficulties, that it seldom proves successful. Will it, therefore, be a matter of wisdom or prudence to put this business off to some future day, at a great distance? I must say, that I wish this meeting might be as soon and as private as possible, that no evil angels might have any knowledge of it, who would be glad of an opportunity to throw in the firebrands of dissension.

If this meeting could be effected as proposed, I doubt not but a union would take place, so far as is necessary. That peace which consists in union of mind and agreement in judgment, in every point, is rather to be wished than hoped for, in this imperfect state.

There are more persons that are now labouring, with all the insidious arts which they can muster up, for the ruin of the Church of England, than you can conceive. All the Infidels and Dissenters in England and these States are our most mortal enemies. However they disagree in sentiment, they unite for our destruction. And you will soon find they are engaged as much to divide, as you are to unite us.

These enemies have always opposed the scheme of Bishops for America. It was by their machinations that Bishop Seabury failed in obtaining his desire. These enemies supposed, when he had applied and was refused, there was an end to the Church in this country. But when they found he had obtained the favour of the old Scotch Bishops, and had received the Apostolical power, they started and cried out, What shall we do now? for the Americans will have Bishops, and we cannot prevent it. An expedient was soon found. We are resolved what to do. Let there be an Act of Parliament granting liberty to the Bishops of England to consecrate Bishops for America, and then set up a huge cry, that Bishop Seabury is a Novizor. By this means we shall divide the Church, and they themselves will demolish it.

Shall we be made fools by these designing men, to do that which they cannot do without our help? The Church has always received her wounds from her own sons, who suppose that other men are as honest as themselves. When our enemies cry up moderation, they mean nothing more or less than that we should renounce our own principles and embrace theirs. When all is considered, said and done upon the subject, we shall find that the Church of England is the best model we can find, as it is regulated so exactly according to the Scriptures, by which the order of the first Church was fixed.

Theodosius, though a great patron of the Church, by assuming to himself the power of erecting new models in the government of it, thereby destroyed the being and constitution of a Christian Church; for if it rests upon the Divine right, derived from our Saviour and his Apostles, it is then in no man's power to alter it; if it does not, it is no Christian Church, for there can be no such thing unless it came from Heaven. My kingdom is not of this world, says our Saviour. If the religion we profess, the officers to administer, and the ordinances are not all divine, it is all a mere delusion at the best. These points are so clear in Revelation, that we must hold them or renounce all Revelation itself.

The Church in this state would be pleased to have the old forms altered as little as may be; but for the sake of a union they will comply as far as they possibly can. And I do not see how a union can be more advantageous to us than it will be to you. If it is reciprocal, both ought to give way, and not to be too rigid. And I trust this will be the result, when matters are maturely considered.

I am, with every sentiment of esteem, regard and friendship,
Right Rev. Sir, your most obedient, humble Servant,
JEREMIAH LEAMING.*

The Right Rev. Bishop WHITE.

In his letter of congratulation to Bishop White, Mr. Parker still agitates the matter of union and comprehension. Giving, as this letter does, evidence of the feeling of the New England states, other than Connecticut, with reference to this matter, its testimony to the general desire for union on principles of mutual independence and equality, becomes of importance; and the reply to it, which will follow in chronological order, is explicit and to the point. We omit a portion of this letter having reference to an ordination by Bishop White of a candidate from New England, which had given great dissatisfaction in Massachusetts, where the Clergyman was formerly a preacher among the Congregationalists!

[Rev. Mr. Parker to Bishop White.]

Boston, July 19th, 1787.

Right Rev. and dear Sir:

I feel conscious of a neglect of duty and a deficiency in politeness, to have to acknowledge the receipt of two letters from you, before I had congratulated you on your advancement to the dignity you now possess, and your return from two long and dangerous voyages. The disturbed state of my family through sickness, and my own indisposition at the time of Mr. Montague's going to Philadelphia, and prior to that period, must apologize for your neglect. However late, I would now present you with my sincere congratulations on your having arrived at the highest order of the Clerical character, and your safe arrival to your native shore, and cordially wish you may prove a rich blessing to the Church under your Episcopal care, and promote the interest of true religion throughout these States.

Mr. Montague duly delivered your letter of the 8th inst., with respect to the Prayer Books you sent me last year. I have not the pleasure to inform you of a rapid sale of them. Our Convention had previously adopted the alterations, a copy of which were forwarded to you, which were not altogether similar to yours. We have in our parish adopted the Psalms as altered by you, but as we reprinted the Psalter here, it made no demand for the Prayer Books. But a dozen of them are disposed of, though they have been several times advertised for sale by the bookseller. What the probability is of a further sale will depend very much upon the future movements of the Church in this state.

* From the Bishop White Correspondence.

Should a union take place between the Southern and Northern States, upon the plan of these alterations, no doubt they will meet a quick sale here: but as they are not yet adopted, even by some of the states represented in the Convention which proposed them, I cannot promise that they will be in demand here. I cannot myself consent to any further alterations, till a uniform Liturgy is agreed upon by the whole Church in these States, and to effect this I shall be willing to give up anything but the essential doctrines of our Church, and to adopt anything not repugnant thereto. But I fear from the opposite dispositions of Connecticut and the Southern States this will not be effected, though I cannot see why upon the supposition of a different ecclesiastical form of government, the Bishops of the several states may not agree on one common Liturgy, and a uniformity of worship be preserved, if not of discipline.

Nothing will be determined in this state respecting a Bishop till we see how matters are settled between you and the Bishop of Connecticut. We are but six Clergymen in the whole state (exclusive of Mr. Bowen) and are divided in our sentiments respecting the expediency of obtaining a Bishop. Two seem to adhere to Connecticut, two to your states, and the other two will join either party that will bid fairest to cement the whole. Should the case happen, that a person should be chosen for consecration for this state, will it be necessary for him to go to England to obtain it, or can two Bishops confer it authentically; or is Dr. Griffith on his way to England, or will the Southern Bishops unite with Bishop Seabury in this act? If this last question is premature or impatient, I beg pardon, and request not an answer to it. The reason of my proposing these questions is, that the answers may operate very considerably in the determinations of the Clergy here.

In the mean time, I remain, with every sentiment of respect and esteem,

Your most obedient and very humble Servant,

S. PARKER.*

Right Rev. Bishop WHITE.

Learning, in the zeal and fervor of his desires for union, lost no time in replying to Bishop White's response to his first communication. His letter again bears testimony to the fraternal sentiments of the Bishop of Pennsylvania, and points to the single obstacle yet remaining, the old animosity cherished by Bishop Provost toward Bishop Seabury, as all that was yet to be surmounted, ere a general union might be effected.

[Rev. Jeremiah Learning to Bishop White.]

Stratford, July 30th, 1787.

I am so anxious, my dear and Rev. Sir, for the prosperity of the Church, that I cannot do less than acknowledge immediately the receipt of your favour by Dr. Johnson, who informs me that your sentiments are the same with ours in respect of the union.

If you, Bishop Provost and Bishop Seabury could be brought together, at the meeting of the gentleman who have the care of the fund for Clergymen's widows, all matters might be adjusted. And whatever may be agreed upon by you three, each Bishop may bring his own Clergy to acquiesce in it; and by that means matters would be fixed upon a permanent basis.

* From the Bishop White Correspondence.

You are the only person who can prepare the way to effect this scheme. And nothing is wanted to do it, but only to bring Bishop Provost to adopt it. And I cannot think he would hesitate a moment, if he knew the sentiments of his own Clergy in that respect as fully as I do. They all, to a man, would be overjoyed to find such a plan taking place. There is no one thing he can possibly do, that would raise his character so high among his Clergy, as this will. And there can be no risk in undertaking the affair. You would do essential service to the Church in general, and Bishop Provost in particular, provided you can effect this business, and convince him of the wisdom he will manifest in taking such a step now as will fix the willing obedience of his Clergy to him all his life after. The act, at his first setting out, that pleases and strikes the attention, will be of more advantage to him than he can imagine.

When you have persuaded Bishop Provost to acquiesce in the measure of having a private conference with you and Bishop Seabury, upon the subject of a union, be so good as to write to Bishop Seabury and invite him to meet you, and I doubt not he will attend. As he first proposed it, with it not be proper to acquaint him you are now agreed to have such a meeting, which, in my opinion, is the only method by which the end desired can be effected.

One thing further, provided you should bring about a union, which I doubt not will be the event, if you are brought together, it will save Dr. Griffith the trouble and expense of going to England, for he can be canonically consecrated here.

I have written now lest if I put it off till Dr. Johnson's return, you may not have time to prepare matters before the meeting; and it appears to me there ought not to be any delay in this affair. I hope you will not esteem me over-officious in this business; if you do, my apology is this: I have been forty years in the service of the Church, and I believe I am the oldest Clergyman in America, and I am very desirous to see it complete before I die.

God bless your labours for the converting of sinners and the building up of saints. Thus prays, Right Rev. Sir,

Your most obedient, humble Servant,

JEREMIAH LEARNING.*

Bishop WHITE.

Bishop White's answer to Mr. Parker, to which we have already referred, will serve as a reply to both of these letters. It was written, as we infer from one of its statements, after consultation with the Bishop of New York.

Your friendly letter of July 13 was delivered me y^e other day by Mr. Amory, and I request you to accept my thanks for your congratulations and good wishes. —

I will be very explicit with you on y^e questions you put in regard to an union with Bp. Seabury, and y^e consecration of Dr. Griffith. On y^e one hand, considering it was presumed a third was to go over to England, that y^e institutions of y^e Church of that country require three to join in y^e consecration, and that y^e political situation of y^e English prelates prevents their official knowledge of Dr. Seabury as a Bishop, I am apprehensive it may seem a breach of faith towards them, if not intended deception in us, were we to consecrate without y^e usual number of three, all under y^e English Succession: although it would not be inconsistent with this idea; that another gentleman, under a different succession, should be joined with us. On y^e other hand, I am most sincerely desirous of seeing our Church throughout these States united in one Ecclesiastical Legislature: and I think that any difficulties which have hitherto seemed in y^e way might be removed by mutual forbearance. If there are any further difficulties than those I allude to, of difference in opinion, they do not exist with me: and I shall be always ready to do what lies in my power, to bring all to an agreement.

As to Dr. Griffith, he is ready to go to England as soon as he shall be provided with money for y^e purpose; and it was contrary to his opinion, y^e writing to Bishop Provoost and to me, requesting us, or either of us to consecrate him. My answer was to this purport: that our Convention, by adopting y^e English Book of Ordination and Consecration, had made it necessary for us to adhere to y^e canonical number—that, besides this, I should be very cautious of breaking down such a bar against consecrations on surreptitious elections, y^e evil against which y^e canonical number was intended—and that it would be indelicate to y^e English Bishops. I find from Bp. Provoost y^t he wrote a similar answer. There y^e matter rests for y^e present. I remain in hopes that they will now take effectual measures for raising y^e necessary supplies.

With regard to y^e Prayer Books, when I wrote last, those left in this city were almost all gone. Since that we have got supplied from other states, where they laid on hand; so that as y^e distance is great they may as well continue with you, until either you shall despair of selling them, or there shall be a demand elsewhere. I do not wish to give you much trouble in y^e affair; but perhaps your booksellers would take them by y^e doz: or half doz: at a discount of 1-5th, and if so, I shall be obliged to you to part with them at that rate. In several of y^e states y^e books have lain on hand from an expectation of another edition, of which there is not y^e least probability until this be sold, if then. The state of y^e sales, at present, is somewhere between y^e half and two-thirds; I believe nearer the latter.

The haste in which I am obliged to write my letters is not consistent either with correctness or a fair hand. I beg you will excuse these deficiencies; and am, Rev'd and dear Sir,

Your affectionate Brother,
W^M. WHITE.*

Rev'd Sam'l Parker.

* From the Bishop Parker Correspondence.

It was almost unavoidable that Mr. Parker, in his efforts to heal the breach between the Connecticut Church and that at the Southward, should lie under suspicion from one so outspoken and so straight forward as Bishop Seabury. At Boston a portion of the "Proposed Book," the Psalter, was reprinted, as has been already stated, for use in the Church over which Mr. Parker was Rector, and other alterations than those required by the changes in the civil relations of the United States were made in the Prayer Book, on the authority of a Convention held shortly after Bishop Seabury's return to this country.

Exaggerated reports of these alterations were borne to the ears of the Bishop of Connecticut; and on the occasion of an invitation being extended to him to preach the annual sermon in Boston before the Episcopal Charitable Society, the Bishop took occasion to refer to these changes, and to express his unwillingness to countenance, by his presence, these unauthorized departures from the "good old Book of Common Prayer." Bishop Seabury's first letter on this subject is not preserved. The answer of Mr. Parker is a valuable contribution to Connecticut as well as Massachusetts Church history:

[The Rev. Mr. Parker to the Bishop of Connecticut.]

Boston, Jan'y 28, 1788.

R't Rev'd Sir:

Your favour of the 15th did not reach me till the evening of the 21st instant, and the departure of the Post the next morning prevented my answering it the last week.

I am very sorry to find that you have any reluctance to pass the festival of Easter at Boston, on account of any irregular or unprecedented conduct in our Church. I know not what accounts may have come to your ears respecting the great alterations we have made in the Liturgy of the Church. I flatter myself you have heard more than is really true. I had the honour of transmitting to you, Sir, a copy of these alterations, adopted by a Convention held in this state, Sept., '85: no others have been since added, except the Psalms. The gentlemen of the Charitable Society would think themselves honoured with your company at their annual festival; but I cannot feel myself at liberty to promise a recession from our present mode of carrying on the service, as I apprehend it would be attended with great convulsions in our Church. And if you will indulge me in the statement of a few facts relating to those alterations we have really made, and the grounds upon which they were adopted, you will be the better able to judge how far our conduct has been reprehensible

In the year 1785, I think in the month of June or July, there being then but four Clergymen of the Episcopal Church in the three states of Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and there being in those states eighteen or twenty Churches, three of the Clergymen of Massachusetts thought it advisable to invite a Convention of all the Churches to consult upon some plan for maintaining uniformity in Divine Worship, and adopting such other measures as might tend to the union and prosperity of the Episcopal Church. There being but four Clergymen, and so many Churches without, it was absolutely necessary to call in the Wardens and delegates from those Churches who had no Clergymen. This Convention was proposed to be held on Sept. 7, 1785. In the mean time, being informed that the Bishop of Connecticut proposed to meet his Clergy in Convocation, on August 3, in that year, I was requested by my brethren in the ministry, and the wardens and vestry, to attend that meeting, in order to learn what proceedings that body would take, that the proposed Convention in this state might be able to act in unison with them. The attention and politeness I received from yourself, Sir, and the Clergy of your diocese, demand my grateful acknowledgments. I had the honour of a seat in the first Convention ever held in America. Upon discussing the subject of the expediency of some alterations in the Liturgy of the Church, it was proposed and agreed to, to choose a committee to attend the Bishop, to propose such alterations as should be thought necessary, and to report them to the next meeting of the Convocation. Having the honour of being named on that committee, in conjunction with Rev'd Messrs Jarvis and Bowdoin, you will recollect, Sir, that we spent Friday and Saturday in that week upon this subject, and that most, if not all the proposed alterations were such as we were under obligations to you for, or such as you readily agreed to. These proposed alterations were to be reported to the next meeting of your Convocation, and by your express desire, to the Convention that was to meet in this town the following month, and were, I think, transmitted by you to the Rev'd Dr. Smith, of Maryland, to be communicated to the Convention to be held at Philadelphia, in the month of October. The substitutes for the state prayers were to be immediately recommended to the Churches of Connecticut; and your injunction was received and adopted, with the alteration of one single word by our Convention. The other proposed alterations were also agreed to, and were to be sent to all the Churches in those states for their ratification. In our peculiar situation, without a Bishop, and most of our Churches without a Clergyman, what other mode could we devise? Till then I had not made, and did not think myself at liberty to make, any alterations, even in the state prayers, otherwise than by omitting the prayers for the King, &c. Give me leave, R't Rev'd Sir, to ask what other mode we could have devised, in our peculiar situation, without a Bishop, and most of our Churches without a Clergyman? As we could not proceed in the most regular way of having our Liturgy altered by a Bishop, we thought we had taken the next most regular step, that of gaining the consent of a neighbouring Bishop, who, we were led to suppose, would enjoin the same in his Diocese. We kept our Convention under adjournments till July following, in order to see what would take effect in Connecticut, and at the Southward. The Convention held in Philadelphia, in October, went more thoroughly into alterations than we had proposed, which terminated in reprinting the Prayer Book. The Churches in Connecticut, taking the alarm at the proceedings of the Philadelphia Convention, began to think it best not to start from the old ground; and, if I am rightly informed, sent memorials to the Bishop in Convocation, not to accede to any alterations in the Liturgy, further than the substitute for the state prayers.

When our Convention met in July, by adjournment, we found that we were left by our brethren in Connecticut—that they thought it not advisable to make any alterations. The Convention at the Southward, though they acceded to some of our alterations, had gone much further, and did not adopt the substitute for the state prayers; and the Churches in this and the neighbouring states had readily come in to our proposed alterations, as they had signified to the Convention, one only excepted: what was there, in the power of the Convention, then left to do, to preserve a uniformity? For my own part I was nonplussed—we found we missed our object, and the only thing left to our choice was, to leave it to the option of the several Churches to adopt the new alterations, or continue the old Liturgy, as should be most agreeable.

My Church chose the alterations, and on the first Sunday in August, 1786, they were introduced, and have been strictly adhered to ever since. With those alterations suggested by yourself, and adopted by this Convention, it was judged best by some of our Church, to take the Psalms as selected by the Convention at Philadelphia. The reasons adduced for this procedure were, the great length of the morning service, which the reading the Psalms thus selected would considerably shorten, and that certain passages, which were peculiar to the state of the Jewish Church, and in particular those called the cursing Psalms, and not so well adapted to worship under the Christian dispensation, were omitted.

This, Sir, being the true state of facts, you will be able to judge how far we have acted irregularly, and whether you can with propriety visit us under these circumstances. I am not, for my own part, so much attached to our alterations, as to be unwilling to part with them, save in two instances: I mean the omission of the Athanasian Creed, and the frequent repetition of the Lord's Prayer. To return to these I should feel a reluctance; but still would be willing to sacrifice my own sentiments to the general good.

I am at the same time confident that, should I attempt it, it would cause a convulsion in my Church, [such] as would go near to its total destruction. And sure I am that is an event you would not wish to see take place. But let us suppose it might be effected without this risqué. Will our returning whence we have departed produce a uniformity through these states? If this was probable, I should most surely advise it. You value us in this state at much too high a rate, by supposing that our joining either side will bring about the desired uniformity. The Church is inconsiderable here, compared with what it is in yours or the Southern States. And would not our returning, without producing the intended end, discover an instability and fondness for change, that would be greatly prejudicial to the welfare of the Churches? This I will venture to assert, that when the several Bishops in America have agreed upon a uniform Liturgy, that it will be adopted by the Churches in this state.

Thus, R't Rev'd Sir, I have taken the liberty to lay before you this statement of facts, and the probable consequences of our compliance with what you wish; and however mistaken I may be, I have endeavored to do it with all that respect due to your character and office. Your known goodness and candour will excuse me if my pen has let any thing slip that is improper, for I assure you it was not intended.

I can only now add, Sir, that the gentlemen of the Charitable Society, and particularly myself, would think ourselves honoured with your company at the annual festival, and highly favoured by your preaching to them on that day, (and I will add, on the Sunday preceding, if you can make it convenient;) but at the same time they cannot authorize me to promise a recession from our present mode of performing the service, as they are apprehensive that such a measure would especially at the present time, when the Episcopal Church is peculiarly situated, tend to create divisions and parties among ourselves.

A committee of the Society was chosen at the last yearly meeting, to appoint some other gentleman to preach, in case you should not accept the invitation. You will, therefore, please to let me know, as soon as convenient, the result of your determination,

And believe me to be, with all possible respect and esteem,

R't Rev'd Sir, your most obedient,

And very humble Servant,

R't Rev'd Bishop of Connecticut.

S. PARKER.*

It was not in the nature of Bishop Seabury to allow any misconception of his motives, or wrong interpretation of his conduct, to remain long in the mind of a friend unexplained, and the mail soon bore to the hands of Mr. Parker the Bishop's reply. Only a fragment of it is still preserved, and that is contained in the MS. Letter Book of the Bishop, from which we have transcribed it. It is gratifying to know, that this frank discussion caused no interruption in a life-long friendship, and the Easter visit of Bishop Seabury to Boston soon followed, proving how completely all misunderstanding had been removed.

* From the original draft, preserved among the Bishop Parker Papers.

[Bishop Seabury to Rev. Mr. Parker.]

February 13, 1788.

— It was not my design to excite any resentment, or create any coolness, and I hope I have not done so. Indeed I have no suspicion of it from any expression in your letter. But I could not help observing that it was written with more formality than you used to write. Notwithstanding the statement of matters in it, I cannot help thinking you have been too hasty in adopting the alterations as you have done—that it has rendered a union among the Churches the more difficult, and clouded the small prospect of uniformity, which gave any encouragement to aim at it. That some of our Clergy have been too backward in accommodating the service of the Church to the state, or rather the temper of the country, I will not deny; I have more than once told them so. But errors may be committed through haste, as well as by delay. I am far from ascribing ill designs to you, or to any one who acted with you: but you must forgive me if I repeat it—such alterations as have been made are unprecedented in the Episcopal Church, without the concurrence of your proper Bishop. Forgive me, too, if I say, I did not flatter myself with having any steps taken in returning to the old service for my sake. I have been too long acquainted with my own unimportance, to expect it. But I did and do wish to have as great a uniformity as possible among our Churches; and I was grieved at a measure which I thought impeded so good a work. I never thought there was any heterodoxy in the Southern Prayer Book: but I do think the true doctrine is left too unguarded, and that the offices are, some of them, lowered to such a degree, that they will, in a great measure, lose their influence.*

It was not long after the return of Bishop Seabury from his visit to the Eastward, that the zealous Mr. Learning, of Stratford, renewed his correspondence with the Bishop of Pennsylvania. It is an interesting letter, indicating as it does, not only the same obstacle to union that had hindered it from the first, but in its reference, also, to a valuable little work published by the Rector of Stratford, attesting the zeal of this worthy old Missionary, in striving to stem the tide of infidelity and irreligion, then coming in upon the land.

[The Rev. Jeremiah Learning to Bishop White.]

Stratford, June 16th. 1788.

My Rev. and dear Sir:

I have received your kind and obliging letter, dated the 10th of last February, and I should have answered it before this time, but have waited to hear how the affair turned out, after the Convention in Virginia, with Dr. Griffith.

* From Bishop Seabury's Letter Book.

— As to the affair upon which our correspondence commenced, it appears to me, that the union of the Churches is, at present, a matter that cannot be effected. I was in hopes to see it accomplished soon after your return from England. But you inform me some object, and will have nothing to do with the Scotch Succession. Dr. P—y* is at the bottom of the plan. He has contrived it to make this country all Unitarians; for, to accomplish that, he must denolish the Church in these States. However, if we do not lend him a helping hand, he cannot do it. The Church will never fall, unless it is pulled down by her own members.

Perhaps you will say, you cannot think there is any such scheme on foot. It will not be long before you will find that what I have told you is fact. The Presbyterians are employed by —, to fill all the Southern States with their sort of Ministers, before the Church is supplied with Episcopal Clergymen. Where people have no principles about the nature of a Christian Church, a man ordained by the Laity is as good as any. And a man who professes to believe no creed, but only this, that he believes not in any creed, is as good a Christian as any man can be. By this scheme the Unitarian doctrine is to take place. In order to preserve the Church, the members should be vigilant, lest the foundation should be undermined by clandestine enemies. If true Christianity is not preserved by the Episcopal Church, it will soon take its flight from these States, for Unitarians will be the whole.

In order that the common people, members of the Church in this state, might understand the nature of the Christian Church, and some of its leading doctrines, I have lately published a small treatise upon various subjects, a copy of which I now send you. This I should not have presumed to do, if you had not in a familiar manner expressed your desire that I would communicate to you any matters that might turn up with regard to our Church.

If you should, upon the reading of it, approve what I have advanced, I should be glad to know if reprinting of it would be of any advantage to the people of your State, who are under your care. If we desire to preserve the Church, we must acquaint the people for what end the Church was appointed, and what the doctrines of a Christian Church are, in order that they may understand them.

Thus I have expressed my sentiments freely, and perhaps have been too open. But this must be my apology: in love I have done it, and in love I hope it may be received.

I am, with every sentiment of esteem and regard, Right Rev. Sir,
Your sincere friend and very humble Servant,

Right Rev. Bishop WHITE.

It was from Massachusetts that the proposition tending to unite the divergent lines of Episcopacy finally came. In a letter, the date of which, other than the year, the good Bishop, in the hurry and labor of a wearisome correspondence, forgot to append, the following language is used:

* Dr. Priestley.

† From the Bishop White Correspondence.

[Bishop White to Mr. Parker.]

Philadelphia, 1788.

Rev'd and dear Sir:

— Give me leave to take y^e opportunity of asking whether our brethren of Massachusetts are determined still to keep at a distance from us, or whether they will meet us in Convention next July? If there are any matters in which we do not think exactly alike, you may rely on it that there is an accommodating spirit on our part. If y^e same should not be found on theirs, also; much more, if there should continue a backwardness even to confer with us; it is evident we shall never build up one respectable Church, pervading y^e United States; and consequently shall never be so flourishing as some other religious societies who will accomplish that object.

We miss your society in another point of view. Of y^e Southern States it is evident that y^e Church is not sufficiently numerous, in some of them, to encourage their choosing a Bishop; while, in others, there are very particular circumstances preventing such a measure: so that even should Dr. Griffith repair to England for consecration, y^e business would be imperfect, unless there were at least a fourth ready against his return: and we suppose here, that y^e respectability of y^e Church in Massachusetts would warrant our looking to them in this business.

I have formerly expressed to you another reason for my wishing you with us; and y^e reason still exists: y^e effecting of a junction with our brethren of Connecticut.

It must be considered by all as a surprising instance of negligence in our Church; her not availing herself of y^e present opportunity of obtaining y^e entire and independent possession of that Episcopacy which she had so long complained of y^e want of. Our brethren in Virginia are no doubt most to blame. But when their indifference in y^e case of Dr. Griffith had shown that there was no dependence on them, it should have been taken up elsewhere. The only excuse is what I have already stated—y^e smallness of our communion in some states, and very particular circumstances in others. —

I can only add further at present, that I remain

Your affectionate Brother,

Rev'd S. Parker.

WM: WHITE.*

This letter was a great advance toward the union so ardently desired by the Churchmen of the North. It was doubtless communicated to the Bishop of Connecticut, whose criticism upon the propositions it contains we have in a letter of his addressed to Mr. Parker. This letter we give below:

* From the Bishop Parker Correspondence.

December 16, 1788.

Rev'd and dear Sir:

I intended to have written to you more particularly concerning a union with the Southern Churches: but I am obliged to go out of town for two or three days, and shall not be back in time for the post. I can now only observe, that as it appears to me, all the difficulty lies with those Churches, and not with us in Connecticut. I have several times proposed and urged a union. It has been received and treated, I think, coldly. And yet I have received several letters urging such a union on me, as though I was the only person who opposed it. This is not fair. I am ready to treat of and settle the terms of union on any proper notice. But Bishops W. and P. must bear their part in it, actively, as well as myself; and we must come into the union on even terms, and not as underlings. —

Your affectionate, humble servant,

SAMUEL CONNECT.*

The following month Mr. Parker replied to the letter addressed to him by the Bishop of Pennsylvania. It is a long and able discussion of the matter, and its temperate and conclusive arguments must have carried conviction with them.

[The Rev. Mr. Parker to Bishop White.]

Boston, January 20th, 1789

Right Rev. Sir:

I was honoured sometime last month with your letter, which being without date leaves me uncertain how long it was on its passage, nor could I find out the bearer. I have been waiting some weeks for an opportunity to send to Philadelphia by a private hand, otherwise should have been more punctual in acknowledging the receipt of yours.

You ask, Sir, "whether your brethren of Massachusetts are determined still to keep at a distance from you?" I am quite at a loss how to answer the question. True it is that the Churches in Massachusetts have at present more the resemblance of Independent congregations than of Episcopal Churches, having one common centre of union and communion. There are but six Episcopal Clergymen in the state: two of these have received Orders since the Revolution; one from yourself, the other from Bishop Seabury; two of the other four are so lax in their principles of Episcopal government, that I rather think them averse to uniting under any common head. The Churches are without funds, and the Clergy supported by voluntary contributions, and most of them so small and poor as to afford their ministers but slender support. This being the case, your supposition that the respectability of the Church of Massachusetts would warrant your looking to them to complete the number of Bishops in the English line, is not, you will readily perceive, well founded. Greater difficulties would arise in this matter than a stranger would imagine; so great, indeed, that I despair of ever seeing it effected here.

If there is anything in the power of the clergy here that could effect a reconciliation between the Church of Connecticut and Philadelphia, it will, I am sure, be embraced with cheerfulness. Something I hope will be attempted in the spring. It appears to me that a union might take place, even if the constitutions of government and the Liturgy varied a little in the different States. An absolute uniformity of government and worship, perhaps, will never take place under a Republican form of civil government, and where there is such a variety of sentiments in religious matters. Still I conceive we may become so far united as to be one Church, agreeing in the general principles of discipline and worship.

The late alteration that has taken place in the political principles of the Nonjurors in Scotland, their being no longer entitled to that name, I should suppose will remove one bar to a reconciliation with Bishop Seabury. If our brethren in Connecticut are so tenacious of the rights of the Clergy, as not to be willing to yield any part of Church government to the Laity, why need that be an impediment to an union with those in offices pertaining to the Episcopal chair, who think the Laity are entitled to a share of the government? For my own part, I am not of opinion that the Church of England is entirely free from Lay government, and I am still more of the opinion that a Church existing under such constitutions of civil government as are adopted in the United States, especially where it has no funds of its own to support its officers, can never flourish without yielding to the Laity who hold the purse-strings, a share in the government.

This, however, in my mind, is the greatest obstacle to a union with our brethren in Connecticut. It is in vain to dispute which form comes nearest to the primitive practice. The question is, which is most expedient under our present circumstances? They are doubtless too rigid in their sentiments, at least for the latitude of America, and must finally be obliged to relax a little. They think, on the other hand, that your Constitution is to democratical for Episcopal government, and especially in permitting the Laity to sit as judges at the trial of a Bishop, and to have a voice in deposing him. Bishop Seabury in a letter to me last month, has these words: "All the difficulty in effecting a union lies with the Southern Churches, and not with us in Connecticut. I have several times proposed and urged a union, it has been received and treated, I think, coldly. And yet I have received several letters urging such an union on me, as though I was the only person who opposed it; this is not fair. I am ready to treat of and settle the terms of union, on any proper notice; but Bishops White and Provoost must bear their part in it actively as well as myself, and we must come into the union on even terms." Here certainly appears a disposition to unity; where, then, is the impediment?

I have lately heard that some proposals have been made by the Convocation at New York for a reconciliation. What they are, if any such have been made, I am not yet able to learn. I heartily wish that we were one body, and the Church in every state completely organized. Nothing on my part shall be wanting to effect this desirable end. If my meeting you in Convention next July would have any tendency to bring this to pass, I would willingly accept your kind invitation, and would endeavour to come properly authorized to accede to any proper terms of accommodation. In the mean time, I could wish to know if any general principles are agreed upon which it is supposed the opposite parties will accede to, and which would be the basis of the union. If some preliminaries of this kind were previously settled, it would much facilitate the business, and afford a more pleasing prospect of success.

Any communications of this kind you can find leisure to make will be most gratefully received by
Your most obedient and very humble Servant,

S. PARKER.*

Right Rev. Bishop WHITE.

Strange it is, but true, that even at this late day, Bishop Provost was still implacable. His own Convention, much to his annoyance, as we shall see, had taken measures looking to a union. He had himself declined acting on the absurd proposition of the Virginia Convention, that, in connection with Bishop White, he should proceed to the consecration of Dr. Griffith to the Episcopate of Virginia, without waiting the completion of the canonical number of Consecrators. But in his deep-seated dislike of Bishop Seabury, even in the midst of the presages of the much-desired union, which all his efforts could not prevent, he thus wrote to Bishop White;

[Bishop Provost to Bishop White.]

Right Reverend and dear Sir:

— The members of the Committee of Correspondence in this state will not be able to meet together till the adjournment of our Legislature, which it is expected will take place in a few days. There is no doubt but that Dr. Smith's proposal will be approved of by them, except as to Connecticut. An invitation to the Church in that state to meet us in General Convention, I conceive to be neither necessary nor proper—not necessary, because I am informed that they have already appointed two persons to attend the next General Convention, without our invitation—not proper, because it is so publicly known that they have adopted a form of Church government which renders them inadmissible as members of the Convention or union. —

Your affectionate Brother,

SAM'L PROVOST.†

New York, February 24, 1789.

Without waiting for the receipt of Mr. Parker's reply, Bishop White addressed a cordial invitation to Bishop Seabury and the Connecticut Church, to send representatives to the coming Convention in Philadelphia, on terms honorable to both parties. This overture was met in the kindly spirit which prompted it, and a hurried note from the good Bishop of Connecticut to Mr. Parker tells the result to one who, perhaps, more than any other, had made the instrument of healing the divisions of the American Church. To this brief note we add a longer communication from the excellent Mr. Leaming, and then proceed to give, in full, Bishop Seabury's letters to Bishop White and Dr. William Smith.

[Bishop Seabury to the Rev. Mr. Parker.]

April 10th, 1789.

Rev'd and dear Sir:

— I believe we shall send two Clergymen to the Philadelphia Convention, to see whether a union can be effected. If it fail, the point I believe will here be altogether given up. —

I am, Rev. Sir, your affect. Bro'r and Serv't, SAMUEL, Bp. Connect.*

[The Rev. Mr. Leaming to Bishop White.]

Stratford, June 9, 1789.

Rev'd and dear Sir:

The circumstances of my family have prevented my attendance upon the two last Conventions in this state; but I hear Bishop Seabury had a letter from you, in which you observed that you had received a letter from me and had answered it; but as you heard nothing from me, supposed it had miscarried. You were right in that conclusion, for that letter hath not come to hand.

I am unacquainted with the subject of your letter to Bishop Seabury; but report says there was something in it concerning the union of the Churches—which thing I most reverently wish might take place upon that plan that we may worship God according to our consciences.

I have no doubt that such an event would be agreeable to Bishop Seabury, and to all the Clergy of this state, and to the Church Universal.

I cannot conceive the reason why you should apply to the Bishops of England to consecrate a Bishop for these States, when we have three Bishops in them already. It appears to me we ought to be united, in order that the line of succession of the English and Scotch Bishops might unite in America, as they were derived from the same line originally.

Bishop Seabury has twenty Clergymen in this state, and a very respectable body of people under their care, who are true sons of the

* From the Bishop Parker Correspondence.

Church; and if any state should send to the English Bishops to consecrate a Bishop, it would cast such a face upon affairs, as would exclude all possibility of a union: for such a measure would not be adopted, unless they designed to keep up a separation from us. We shall do every thing in our power for a union, that is consistent with prudence, benevolence and religion. More than this no one can expect.

I am not able to see why there may not be a general union, although we did not agree in every little circumstance. I suppose you agree with us in all Articles of Faith. Although you have cast out two of our creeds, I imagine you do not mean to deny the Divinity of our blessed Lord: for if we are ever justified, it must be by the merits of Christ, and no created being can do any thing by merit for another. All he can do is only to act up to the dignity of his nature; and God has a right to all this, because He gave all the ability.

I do not wish this letter to be laid before the General Convention: but if you think proper, I should have no objection to its being seen by some Gentlemen of candour, that wish a union of this Church with yours.

I am your most obedient, humble Servant,

JEREMIAH LEAMING.*

New London, June 29th, 1789.

Right Rev. and dear Sir:

Your favour of December 9th, 1788, came safely to me, though not till the middle of February. I heartily thank you for it, and for the sentiments of candor and Christian unity it contains, and beg you to believe that nothing on my part shall be wanting to keep up a friendly intercourse, and the nearest possible connection with you, and with all the Churches in the United States, that our different situations can permit.

That your letter has not been sooner attended to has not been owing to disrespect or negligence. I was unwilling to reply to the great and interesting subject of union between the Church of Connecticut and the Southern Churches, merely on the dictates of my own judgment; and as we were about to call a Convention of Lay delegates from our several congregations, to provide for the support of their Bishop, and to consider of the practicability of instituting an Episcopal Academy in this state, it was thought best that the point of sending Lay delegates to the General Convention should come fairly before them. The annual Convocation of our Clergy was also to meet in June, and I determined to take their sentiments on the subject of sending some of their body to your Convention.

When the matter was proposed to the Lay Convention, after some conversation, they declined every interference in Church government or in reformation of Liturgies. They supposed the government of the Church to be fixed, and that they had no right to alter it by introducing a new power into it. They hoped the old Liturgy would be retained, with little alteration; and these matters, they thought, belonged to the Bishops and Clergy, and not to them. They therefore could send no delegates, though they wished for unity among the Churches, and for uniformity of worship; but could not see why these great objects could not be better secured on the old ground than on the new ground that had been taken with you.

The Clergy supposed that, in your Constitution, any representation from them would be inadmissible without Lay delegates, nor could they submit to offer themselves to make a part of any meeting where the authority of their Bishop had been disputed by one Bishop, and probably by his influence, by a number of others who were to compose that meeting. They, therefore, must consider themselves as excluded, till that point shall be settled to their satisfaction, which they hope will be done by your Convention.

For my own part, gladly would I contribute to the union and uniformity of all our Churches; but while Bishop Provost disputes the validity of my consecration, I can take no step towards the accomplishment of so great and desirable an object. This point, I take it, is now in such a state that it must be settled, either by your Convention, or by an appeal to the good sense of the Christian world. But as this is a subject in which I am personally concerned, I shall refrain from any remarks upon it, hoping that the candour and good sense of your Convention will render the future mention of it altogether unnecessary.

You mention the necessity of having your succession completed from England, both as it is the choice of your Churches, and in consequence of implied obligations you are under in England. I have no right to dictate to you on this point. There can, however, be no harm in wishing it were otherwise. Nothing would tend so much to the unity and uniformity of our Churches, as the three Bishops now in the States joining in the consecration of a fourth. I could say much on this subject, but should I do so, it may be supposed to proceed from interested views. I shall therefore leave it to your own good sense, only hoping you and the Convention will deliberately consider whether the implied obligations in England, and the wishes of your Churches be so strong that they must not give way to the prospect of securing the peace and unity of the Church.

The grand objection in Connecticut to the power of Lay delegates in your Constitution, is their making part of a judicial Consistory for the trial and deprivation of Clergymen. This appears to us to be a new power, utterly unknown in all Episcopal Churches, and inconsistent with their Constitution. That it should be given up, we do not expect; power, we know, is not easily relinquished. We think, however, it ought to be given up; and that it will be a source of oppression, and that it will operate as a clog on the due execution of ecclesiastical authority. If a Bishop with his Clergy are not thought competent to censure or depose a disorderly brother, or not to have sufficient principle to do it, they are unfit for their stations. It is, however, a presumption that cannot be made, and therefore can be no ground of action.

If the power with which your Constitution invests Lay delegates be conformable to the sentiments of some of our best writers, I confess I am unacquainted with them; and as I profess myself to be always open to conviction and information, I should be glad to know to what writers I am to apply for that purpose. And as to the principles which have governed in the English Church, I have always understood that the Liturgy and Canons and Articles were settled and agreed upon by the Convocation, and were then, by Act of Parliament, made part of the English Constitution. I know not that the Laity had anything further to do with it.

With regard to Massachusetts and Rhode Island, I never understood your Constitution has been adopted in either of them. Mr. Parker, in Boston, and

I suppose the other congregation there, adopted your Liturgy with but little variation; but I know not that it was done elsewhere. And an attempt to introduce it into Newport, I speak my own opinion, has laid the foundation of such dissensions in that congregation as, I fear, will long continue.

Was it not that it would run this letter to an unreasonable length, I would take the liberty to mention at large the objections that have been here made to the Prayer Book published at Philadelphia. I will confine myself to a few, and even these I should not mention but from a hope they will be obviated by your Convention. The mutilating the Psalms is supposed to be an unwarrantable liberty, and such as was never before taken with Holy Scriptures by any Church. It destroys that beautiful chain of Prophecy that runs through them, and turns their application from Messiah and the Church to the temporal state and concerns of individuals. By discarding the word Absolution, and making no mention of Regeneration in Baptism, you appear to give up those points, and to open the door to error and delusion. The excluding of the Nicene and Athanasian Creed has alarmed y^e steady friends of our Church, lest y^e doctrine of Christ's divinity should go out with them. If the doctrine of those Creeds be offensive, we are sorry for it, and shall hold ourselves so much the more bound to retain them. If what are called the damatory clauses in the latter be the objection, cannot those clauses be supported by Scripture? Whether they can or cannot, why not discard those clauses, and retain the doctrinal part of the Creed? The leaving out the descent into Hell from the Apostles' Creed seems to be of dangerous consequence. Have we a right to alter the analogy of faith handed down to us by the Holy Catholic Church? And if we do alter it, how will it appear that we are the same Church which subsisted in primitive times? The article of the descent, I suppose, was put into the Creed to ascertain Christ's perfect humanity, that he had a human soul, in opposition to those heretics who denied it, and affirmed that his body was actuated by the divinity. For if when he died, and his body was laid in the grave his soul went to the receptacle of departed spirits, then he had a human soul as well as body, and was very and perfect man. The Apostles' Creed seems to have been the Creed of the Western Church. The Nicene, of the Eastern; and the Athanasian, to be designed to ascertain the Catholic doctrine of the Trinity against all opposers. And it always appeared to me, that the design of the Church of England, in retaining the three Creeds, was to show that she did retain the analogy of the Catholic faith, in common with the Eastern and Western Church, and in opposition to those who denied the Trinity of persons in the Unity of the Divine Essence. Why any departure should be made from this good and pious example I am yet to seek.

There seems in your book a dissonance between the Offices of Baptism and Confirmation. In the latter there is a renewal of a vow, which in the former does not appear to have been explicitly made. Something of the same discordance appears in the Catechism.

Our regard for primitive practice makes us exceedingly grieved that you have not absolutely retained the sign of the Cross in Baptism. When I consider the practice of the ancient Church, before Popery had a being, I cannot think the Church of England justifiable in giving up the sign of the Cross, where it was retained by the first Prayer Book of Edward the VI. Her motive may have been good; but good motives will not justify wrong actions. The concessions she has made in giving up several primitive, and I suppose apostolical usages, to gratify the humours of fault-finding men, shows the inefficacy of such a conduct. She has learned wisdom from her experiences. Why should not we also take a lesson in her school? If the humour be pursued of giving up points on every demand, in fifty years we shall scarce have the name of Christianity left. For God's sake, my dear Sir, let us remember that it is the particular business of the Bishops of Christ's Church to preserve it pure and undefiled, in faith and practice, according to the model left by apostolic practice. And may God give you grace and courage to act accordingly!

In your Burial Office, the hope of a future resurrection to eternal life is too faintly expressed, and the acknowledgment of an intermediate state, between death and the resurrection, seems to be entirely thrown out; though, that this was a catholic, primitive and apostolical doctrine, will be denied by none who attend to this point.

The articles seem to be altered to little purpose. The doctrines are neither more clearly expressed nor better guarded; nor are the objections to the old articles obviated. And, indeed, this seems to have been the case with several other alterations; they appear to have been made for alteration's sake, and at least have not mended the matter they aimed at.

That the most execrable part of the English book is the Communion Office may be proved by a number of very respectable names among her Clergy. The grand fault in that office is the deficiency of a more formal oblation of the elements, and of the invocation of the Holy Ghost to sanctify and bless them. The Consecration is made to consist merely in the Priest's laying his hands on the elements and pronouncing, "This is my body," &c., which words are not consecration at all, nor were they addressed by Christ to the Father, but were declarative to the Apostles. This is so exactly symbolizing with the Church of Rome in an error; an error, too, on which the absurdity of Transubstantiation is built, that nothing but having fallen into the same error themselves, could have prevented the enemies of the Church from casting it in her teeth. The efficacy of Baptism, of Confirmation, of Orders, is ascribed to the Holy Ghost, and His energy is implored for that purpose; and why He should not be invoked in the consecration of the Eucharist, especially as all the old Liturgies are full to the point, I cannot conceive. It is much easier to account for the alterations of the first Liturgy of Edward the VI, than to justify them; and as I have been told there is a vote on the minutes of your Convention, anno. 1786, I believe, for the revision of this matter, I hope it will be taken up, and that God will raise up some able and worthy advocate for this primitive practice, and make you and the Convention the instruments of restoring it to His Church in America. It would do you more honor in the world, and contribute more to the union of the Churches than any other alterations you can make, and would restore the Holy Eucharist to its ancient dignity and efficacy.

I shall close this letter with renewing a former proposal for union and uniformity, viz: that you and Bishop Provost, with as many proctors from the Clergy as shall be thought necessary, meet me with an equal number of proctors from Connecticut. We should then be on equal ground, on which ground only, I presume, you would wish to stand, and I doubt not everything might be settled to mutual satisfaction, without the preposterous method of ascertaining doctrines, &c., &c., by a majority of votes.

Hoping that all obstructions may be removed by your Convention, and beseeching Almighty God to direct us in the great work of establishing and building up His Church in peace and unity, truth, and charity, and purity,

I remain, with great regard and esteem, your affectionate,
Brother and very humble Servant,

SAMUEL, Dn. Connect.

I presume you will lay this letter before the Convention, and I have to request that I may be informed of their proceedings, as soon as convenient, as all our proceedings will be suspended till then or, at least, till November.

The remarks on your Prayer Book are the principal ones I have heard made. They are here repeated from memory, and I have not your Book at hand with which to compare them.

I observe you mention that the authority of Lay delegates in your Constitution is misunderstood. We shall be glad to be better informed, and shall not pertinaciously persist in any unfair constructions, when they are fairly pointed out to us. That the assent of the Laity should be given to the laws which affect them equally with the Clergy, I think is right, and I believe will be disputed no where, and the rights of the Laity we have no disposition to invade.*

[Bishop Seabury to the Rev. Dr. Wm. Smith.]

— The wish of my heart, and the wish of the Clergy and of the Church people of this state, would certainly have carried me, and some of the Clergy, to your General Convention, had we conceived we could have done it with propriety. The ground on which Bishop P. disputes the validity of the Scotch Episcopal succession can best be explained by himself: I know not what it is. And the ground on which the Letters of Orders were called for from every Clergyman, in a former Convention at Philadelphia—if I have been rightly informed—in order to make a distinction between English and Scotch ordinations, they can best explain who were concerned in it. As I know not precisely how this matter ended, I shall say no more about it. But while this matter stands as it does, and there is a Resolve on the minutes of the New York Convention strongly reflecting on Bishop Seabury's Episcopal character—while by your own Constitution no representation of Clergymen can be admitted without Lay delegates; and no Church can be taken into your union without adopting your whole plan, I leave you to say whether it would be right for me, or for my Clergy, to offer ourselves at a Convention where we could be admitted only in courtesy? Should we feel ourselves at home? or, as being on an equal footing with the other ministers?

The necessity of a union of all the Churches, and the disadvantages of the present disunion, we feel and lament equally with you: and I agree with you, that there may be a strong and efficacious union between Churches where the usages are different. I see not why it may not be so in this case, as soon as you have removed those obstructions which, while they remain, must prevent all possibility of uniting. My joining with Bishops W. and P. in consecrating a fourth Bishop was some time ago proposed to Bishop W., and by him declined. His noncompliance has had a bad effect here. It has raised a jealousy of attempting an undue superiority over the Church of Connecticut, which, as it at present consists of nineteen Clergymen, in full orders, and more than 20,000 people, they suppose as respectable as the Church in any state in the Union.

Before I wrote to Bishop White I took the most deliberate pains to obtain the sentiments of both Clergy and Laity; and I should not now think myself at liberty to act contrary to their sentiments, even did not my own coincide with theirs. I have, however, the strongest hope that all difficulties will be removed by your Convention—that the Connecticut Episcopacy will be explicitly acknowledged, and that Church enabled to join in union with you, without giving up her own independency.

* From the original MS. preserved among the Bishop White papers. As this letter is mutilated more or less on every page, we have supplied the omissions from the first draft of this paper contained in Bishop Seabury's Letter-book.

A great deal, my dear sir, will depend on the part you now act. The dread of alterations in the Liturgy here arises from the observation, that every review of the Liturgy has set the offices of the Church lower, and departed further from primitive practice and simplicity. The book you published was a remarkable instance of depreciating the offices, and we hope to see it remedied. To enter into particulars, after what I have written to Bishop W. will be useless. But if a uniformity of worship be aimed at, I know of no other method besides the one I mentioned to Bishop W.—to leave the matter to the Bishops and the Clergy. It is their business; and if your Laity will not consent to it, they interfere out of their sphere. —*

At the meeting of the Convention of the Church in the Middle and Southern States, in July, 1789, a letter from the Rev. Samuel Parker, enclosing an invitation from the Clergy of Massachusetts and New Hampshire to the Bishops of Pennsylvania and New York, to unite with the Bishop of Connecticut in the consecration of the Rev. Edward Bass, their Bishop elect, demanded immediate attention. This measure, we are assured by Bishop White, and his testimony is borne out by other authorities, was set on foot by the energetic Parker; and, as appears in the sequel, was not so much intended to bring about Mr. Bass's consecration, as, by the presentation of a case in point, to effect that union which was the desire of the great body of Churchmen throughout the land. The tendency of this measure had not escaped the vigilant eyes of Bishop Provost in New York, and the attempt was made by the most prominent Layman of Massachusetts, Dudley Atkins Tyng, Esq., to interest the various vestries of Massachusetts and New Hampshire in opposition to Mr. Bass's consecration, on the ground, that none but the Clergy had been permitted to participate in his election. It required the most determined and painstaking effort, on the part of Mr. Parker, to counteract this opposition, to the strength of which he refers in a letter

At the meeting aforesaid,

Voted—That the Rev. Samuel Parker be authorised and empowered to transmit copies of the foregoing Act, to be by him attested, to the Right Reverend the Bishops of Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania; and that he be our agent to appear at any Convocation to be holden at Pennsylvania or New York, and to treat upon any measures that may tend to promote an union of the Episcopal Church throughout the United States of America, or that may prove advantageous to the interests of said Church.

Following the presentation of this important document, as we learn from the journals—

"A letter was also read from the Right Rev. Dr. Seabury, Bishop of the Church in Connecticut, to the Right Rev. Dr. White, and one from the same gentleman to the Rev. Dr. Smith.

Upon reading the said letters, it appearing that Bishop Seabury lay under some misapprehensions concerning an entry in the Minutes of a former Convention, as intending some doubt of the validity of his consecration—

Resolved unanimously, That it is the opinion of this Convention, that the consecration of the Right Rev. Dr. Seabury to the Episcopal office is valid.*"

On being referred to the committee of the whole, this matter was-discussed day by day, until Wednesday, August 30, 1789, when, as appears from the Journal—

"The Rev. Dr. Smith, in order to bring the business before them to a conclusion, offered the following resolves :

'The Committee of the whole, having had under their deliberate consideration the application of the Clergy of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, for the consecration of the Rev. Edward Bass, as their Bishop, do offer to the Convention the following resolves :

1st, Resolved, That a complete Order of Bishops, derived as well under the English as the Scots line of Episcopacy, doth now subsist within the United States of America, in the persons of the Right Rev. William White, D. D., Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the State of Pennsylvania; the Right Rev. Samuel Provost, D. D., Bishop of the said Church in the State of New York, and the Right Rev. Samuel Seabury, D. D., Bishop of the said Church in the State of Connecticut.

2d, Resolved, That the said three Bishops are fully competent to every proper act and duty of the Episcopal office and character in these United States, we shall subsequently give. But by his judicious measures, the growing discontent was allayed, and on the third day of the session the following document was introduced.

"An act of the Clergy of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, recommending the Rev. Edward Bass for consecration, was laid before the Convention, by the Right Rev. Dr. White, and is as follows :

The good providence of Almighty God, the fountain of all goodness, having lately blessed the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, by supplying it with a complete and entire Ministry, and affording to many of her communion the benefit of the labours, advice and government of the successors of the Apostles :

We, Presbyters of said Church in the States of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, deeply impressed with the most lively gratitude to the Supreme Governor of the universe, for his goodness in this respect, and with the most ardent love to his Church, and concern for the interest of his sons, that they may enjoy all the means that Christ, the great Shepherd and Bishop of souls, has instituted for leading his followers into the ways of truth and holiness, and preserving his Church in the unity of spirit and the bond of peace, to the end that the people committed to our respective charges may enjoy the benefit and advantage of those offices, the administration of which belongs to the highest Order of the Ministry, and to encourage and promote, as far as in us lies, a union of the whole Episcopal Church in these States, and to perfect and compact this mystical body of Christ, do hereby nominate, elect and appoint the Rev. Edward Bass, a Presbyter of said Church, and Rector to St. Paul's, in Newburyport, to be our Bishop; and we do promise and engage to receive him as such, when canonically consecrated and invested with the apostolic office and powers by the Right Reverend the Bishops hereafter named, and to render him all that canonical obedience and submission which, by the laws of Christ, and the constitution of our Church, is due to so important an office.

And we now address the Right Reverend the Bishops in the States of Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania, praying their united assistance in consecrating our said Brother, and canonically investing him with the apostolic offices and powers. This request we are induced to make from a long acquaintance with him, and from a perfect knowledge of his being possessed of that love to God and benevolence to men, that piety, learning and good morals, that prudence and discretion, requisite to so exalted a station, as well as that personal respect and attachment of the communion at large in these States, which will make him a valuable acquisition to the Order, and, we trust, a rich blessing to the Church.

Done at a meeting of the Presbyters whose names are underwritten, held at Salem, in the County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the fourth day of June, Anno Salutis, 1789.

as well in respect to the consecration of other Bishops, and the ordering of Priests and Deacons, as for the government of the Church, according to such rules, Canons and institutions as now are, or hereafter may be duly made and ordained by the Church in that case.

3d, Resolved, That in Christian charity, as well as of duty, necessity and expediency, the Churches represented in this Convention ought to contribute, in every manner in their power, towards supplying the wants and granting every just and reasonable request of their sister Churches in these States; and, therefore,

4th, Resolved, That the Right Rev. Dr. White and the Right Rev. Dr. Provoost be, and they hereby are requested to join with the Right Rev. Dr. Seabury, in complying with the prayer of the Clergy of the States of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, for the consecration of the Rev. Edward Buss, Bishop elect of the Churches in the said States; but, that before the said Bishops comply with the request aforesaid, it be proposed to the Churches in the New England States to meet the Churches of these States, with the said three Bishops, in an adjourned Convention, to settle certain articles of union and discipline among all the Churches, previous to such consecration.

5th, Resolved, That if any difficulty or delicacy, in respect to the Archbishops and Bishops of England, shall remain with the Right Rev. Drs. White and Provoost, or either of them, concerning their compliance with the above request, this Convention will address the Archbishops and Bishops, and hope thereby to remove the difficulty.

These resolves were unanimously agreed to as the Report of the Committee.

The Committee having finished the business committed to them, rose and reported to the Convention the above resolves.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Andrews, this report was unanimously agreed to.*

The measures thus happily inaugurated are again referred to as the Convention drew near its adjournment, when the following action took place :

"The committee for preparing an address to the Most Rev. Archbishops of Canterbury and York, reported an address, which was read and adopted.

Ordered, that it be engrossed for signing, and that it be signed by the members of the Convention, as their address, and by the President officially.

Ordered, that it be published in the Journal of the adjourned meeting of this Convention.

On motion, Resolved, That the Right Rev. Dr. White, Rev. Dr. Smith, Rev. Dr. Magaw, Hon. Mr. Hopkinson, Mr. T. Cox, and Mr. Burrows, be a Committee to forward the above-mentioned address; to prepare and forward the necessary answers to the Rev. Mr. Parker and the Clergy of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, respecting their application for the consecration of the Rev. Edward Buss, their Bishop elect; to answer, as far as may be necessary, the Right Rev. Dr. Seabury's letters; to forward the minutes and proceedings of this Convention to the English Archbishops and Bishops; and also to the Right Rev. Dr. Seabury, and to the Eastern and other Churches not included in this union, to notify to them the time and place to which this Convention should adjourn, and request their attendance at the same, for the good purposes of union and general government; and to call such special meetings of the Convention as may be necessary.*

Bishop White lost no time in addressing a hurried note to Bishop Seabury, expressing his satisfaction at the prospect of a speedy union, on terms such as could not fail to commend themselves to all right-minded men.

[Bishop White to Bishop Seabury.]

Philadelphia, Aug. 11th, 1789.

Right Rev. and dear Sir :

My delaying to acknowledge the receipt of your last letter arose from y^e near meeting of y^e Convention, to which it had an evident relation. And I now defer it longer, with y^e expectation of our soon discussing y^e weighty contents of it more fully and effectually than can be done in correspondence. For I cannot for a moment suppose that you will see cause to decline y^e unanimous invitation which you will herewith receive from y^e Convention to their adjourned meeting.

However conscious of rectitude in the part I have taken, and which will appear to you from the Journal, I am not without apprehension that it will be misunderstood by a Brother for whom I entertain a sincere esteem, and with whom I wish to be united in religious labors. I can conscientiously declare that my professed obligations are not supposed, either without due deliberation, or with a desire to create difficulties.†

Before I conclude, permit me, Sir, to draw your attention to y^e case of a Mr. Marsh, a young gentleman born and educated in Connecticut, whom I ordained a Deacon last winter, for y^e purpose of assisting (as a Curate) a Clergyman of my acquaintance in Maryland, who employed him in y^e capacity of a Tutor in a large boarding school. Mr. Marsh has lately informed me that some domestic affairs induce his settling in his native country, and that he has y^e offer of a parochial cure there. My reason for mentioning him to you is, partly to assure you that I believe his title to have been a sincere one, according to his prospects at that time, and partly to testify in his favour, that from y^e accounts I have received of him from gentlemen in y^e

† In the original draft of this letter, from which we transcribe it, the following paragraph is here appended: "And if it shall appear from y^e answer of y^e Archbishops, either that I am released from y^e said obligations, or that they were imaginary, I will join, without delay, in the proposed consecration of Mr. Buss. Further, it is my earnest wish to be relieved from them, that one of these two may appear, and I have so expressed myself in my letter to y^e Archbishop of Canterbury.

neighbourhood of his late residence, some of them my friends and near relatives, I believe him to be a deserving young man, and of unblemished morals.

With y^e agreeable expectation of soon taking you by y^e hand,
I am, Right Rev. and dear Sir, your aff. Brother,

WM. WHITE.*

P. S. Dr. Smith informs me he expects Bishop Seabury will take a bed at his house. This prevents an invitation to mine, to which I had previously invited Bishop Provost, and in which I could not accommodate both in a suitable manner, and agreeably to my own wishes. But I shall hope to have much of Bishop Seabury's company at my house, as his convenience shall allow.

The address to the English Prelates we give in full, and add to it the interesting letter from Bishop White to the Archbishop of Canterbury, which accompanied it, prefacing the whole with the brief minutes of the Committee appointed to forward it, which we transcribe from the original MS. in the hand-writing of Dr. Smith, among the papers of the General Convention.

MINUTES OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

August 14th, at Mr. Hopkinson's. Present, Right Rev. Dr. White, Dr. Smith, Dr. McGaw, Mr. Hopkinson and Mr. Cox.

The address to the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, enclosed in a letter from the Committee, accompanied with a private letter from Bishop White, and two copies of the Journal of the Convention were forwarded to New York, to the Hon. Robert Morris, with a request that he would forward the same to England by the first and safest conveyance; Bishop White to have the charge of writing to Mr. Morris.

Agreed that a duplicate of the Address to the Archbishops, and all the accompanying papers, be immediately prepared and sent by Dr. Smith to the Rev. Dr. West, in Baltimore, to be forwarded to England by a ship from that port, which is speedily to sail.

Agreed that the letter to Bishop Seabury with the Journal of Convention, and copy of the address to the Archbishops, be forwarded to the Hon. Samuel Johnson, LL. D., at New York, to be by him sent to Bishop Seabury. Dr. Smith to take the charge of this communication to Bishop Seabury, through the hands of Dr. Johnson.

The letter to the Rev. Dr. Parker, in answer to the application of the Clergy of Massachusetts, respecting the consecration of the Rev. Dr. Bass, accompanied with a copy of the address to the Archbishops, were committed to the care of Mr. Trench Cox, to be by him forwarded to New York, and from thence through the hands of some of the Massachusetts delegates, to Dr. Parker in Boston.

Dr. White is requested to write to Dr. Parker by post, to notify him that he may soon expect to receive this communication, in the way above directed, and to request Dr. Parker to acknowledge the receipt of the same as soon as possible.

The letter to the Clergy of North Carolina, addressed to the Rev. Mr. Outting, to be communicated, was committed to the care of Bishop White, to be forwarded by the Rev. Mr. Wilson, lately ordained Presbyter for the Church in that State, or by some other safe and speedy conveyance.

The letter to the Clergy of Georgia was committed to the care of Mr. Cox, to be forwarded by water to Savannah.*

AN ADDRESS TO THE MOST REVEREND THE ARCHBISHOPS OF CANTERBURY AND YORK.

Most Venerable and Illustrious Fathers and Prelates:

We, the Bishops, Clergy and Laity of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and South Carolina, impressed with every sentiment of love and veneration, beg leave to embrace this earliest occasion, in General Convention, to offer our warmest, most sincere and grateful acknowledgments to you, and (by your means) to all the venerable Bishops of the Church over which you preside, for the manifold instances of your former condescension to us, and solicitude for our spiritual welfare. But we are more especially called to express our thankfulness for that particular act of your fatherly goodness, whereby we derive, under you, a pure Episcopacy and succession of the ancient Order of Bishops, and are now assembled, through the blessing of God, as a Church duly constituted and organized, with the happy prospect before us of a future full and undisturbed exercise of our holy religion, and its extension to the utmost bounds of this continent, under an ecclesiastical constitution, and a form of worship which we believe to be truly apostolical.

The growing prospect of this happy diffusion of Christianity, and the assurance we can give you, that our Churches are spreading and flourishing throughout these United States, we know, will yield you more solid joy, and be considered as a more ample reward of your goodness to us, than all the praises and expressions of gratitude which the tongues of men can bestow.

It gives us pleasure to assure you, that during the present sitting of our Convention, the utmost harmony has prevailed through all our deliberations; that we continue, as heretofore, most sincerely attached to the faith and doctrine of the Church of England, and not a wish appears to prevail, either among our Clergy or Laity, of ever departing from that Church in any essential article.

The business of most material consequence which hath come before us, at our present meeting, hath been an application from our sister Churches in the Eastern States, expressing their earnest desire of a general union of the whole Episcopal Church in the United States, both in doctrine and discipline; and, as a primary means of such union, praying the assistance of our Bishops in the consecration of a Bishop elect for the states of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. We therefore judge it necessary to accompany this address with the papers which have come before us on that very interesting subject, and of the proceedings we have had thereupon, by which you will be enabled to judge concerning the particular delicacy of our situation, and, probably, to relieve us from any difficulties which may be found therein.

The application from the Church in the states of Massachusetts and New Hampshire is in the following words, viz:

The good providence of Almighty God, the fountain of all goodness, having lately blessed the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, by supplying it with a complete and entire Ministry, and affording to many of her communion the benefit of the labours, advice, and government of the successors of the Apostles:

* In the handwriting of Rev. Dr. Wm. Smith, and preserved among the papers of Bishop White.

We, Presbyters of said Church in the States of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, deeply impressed with the most lively gratitude to the Supreme Governor of the universe, for his goodness in this respect, and with the most ardent love to his Church, and concern for the interest of his sons, that they may enjoy all the means that Christ, the great Shepherd and Bishop of souls, has instituted for leading his followers into the ways of truth and holiness, and preserving his Church in the unity of the spirit and in the bond of peace, to the end that the people committed to our respective charges may enjoy the benefit and advantage of those offices, the administration of which belongs to the highest Order of the Ministry, and to encourage and promote, as far as in us lies, a union of the whole Episcopal Church in these States, and to perfect and complete this mystical body of Christ, do hereby nominate, elect and appoint, the Rev. Edward Bass, a Presbyter of said Church, and Rector of St. Paul's, in Newburyport, to be our Bishop; and we do promise and engage to receive him as such, when canonically consecrated and invested with the apostolic office and powers by the Right Reverend the Bishops hereafter named, and to render him all that canonical obedience and submission which, by the laws of Christ, and the Constitution of our Church, is due to so important an office.

And we now address the Right Reverend the Bishops in the states of Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania, praying their united assistance in consecrating our said brother, and canonically investing him with the apostolic office and powers. This request we are induced to make, from a long acquaintance with him, and from a perfect knowledge of his being possessed of that love to God and benevolence to men, that piety, learning and good morals, that prudence and discretion, requisite to so exalted a station, as well as that personal respect and attachment to the communion at large in these States, which will make him a valuable acquisition to the Order, and, we trust, a rich blessing to the Church.

Done at a meeting of the Presbyters whose names are underwritten, held at Salem, in the County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the fourth day of June, Anno Salutis, 1789.

At the meeting aforesaid,

Voted, That the Rev. Samuel Parker be authorized and empowered to transmit copies of the foregoing Act, to be by him attested, to the Right Reverend the Bishops in Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania; and that he be appointed our agent, to appear at any Convocation to be holden at Pennsylvania or New York and to treat upon any measures that may tend to promote an union of the Episcopal Church throughout the United States of America, or that may prove advantageous to the interests of the said Church.

Edward Bass, Chairman.

A true copy. Attest: SAMUEL PARKER.

This was accompanied with a letter from the Rev. Samuel Parker; the worthy Rector of Trinity Church, Boston, to the Right Rev. Bishop White, dated June 21st, 1789, of which the following is an extract:

"The Clergy here have appointed me their agent, to appear at any Convocation to be held at New York or Pennsylvania; but I fear the situation of my family and parish will not admit of my being absent so long as a journey to Philadelphia would take. When I gave you encouragement that I should attend, I was in expectation of having my parish supplied by some gentlemen from Nova Scotia; but I am now informed they will not be here till some time in August. Having, therefore, no prospect of attending in person at your General Convention next month, I am requested to transmit you an attested copy of an act of the Clergy of this and the state of New Hampshire, electing the Rev. Edward Bass our Bishop, and requesting the united assistance of the Right Reverend Bishops of Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut, to invest him with apostolic powers. This act I have now the honour of enclosing, and hope it will reach you before the meeting of your General Convention in July.

"The Clergy of this State are very desirous of seeing an union of the whole Episcopal Church in the United States take place; and it will remain with our brethren at the southward to say, whether this shall be the case or not—whether we shall be an united or divided Church. Some little difference in government may exist in different States, without affecting the essential points of union and communion."

In like spirit, the Right Rev. Dr. Seabury, Bishop of the Church in Connecticut, in his letter to the Rev. Dr. Smith, dated July 23d, writes on the subject of union, etc., as followeth:

"The wish of my heart, and the wish of the Clergy and of the Church people of this State, would certainly have carried me and some of the Clergy to your General Convention, had we conceived we could have attended with propriety. The necessity of an union of all the Churches, and the disadvantages of our present dis-union, we feel and lament equally with you; and I agree with you, that there may be a strong and efficacious union between Churches, where the usages are different. I see not why it may not be so in the present case, as soon as you have removed those obstructions which, while they remain, must prevent all possibility of uniting. The Church of Connecticut consists, at present, of nineteen Clergymen in full orders, and more than twenty thousand people, they suppose, as respectable as the Church in any State in the union."

After the most serious deliberation upon this important business, and cordially joining with our brethren of the Eastern or New England Churches in the desire for union, the following resolves were unanimously adopted in Convention, viz.:

Resolved—1st, That a complete Order of Bishops, derived as well under the English as the Scots line of succession, doth now subsist within the United States of America, in the persons of the Right Rev. William White, D. D., Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the state of Pennsylvania; the Right Rev. Samuel Provost, D. D., Bishop of the said Church in the state of New York; and the Right Rev. Samuel Seabury, D. D., Bishop of said Church in the state of Connecticut.

2d, That the said three Bishops are fully competent to every proper act and duty of the Episcopal office and character in these United States; as well in respect to the consecration of other Bishops, and the ordering of Priests and Deacons, as for the government of the Church, according to such canons, rules and institutions as now are, or hereafter may be duly made and ordained by the Church in that case.

3d, That in Christian charity, as well as of duty, necessity and expediency, the Churches represented in this Convention ought to contribute in every manner in their power, towards supplying the wants, and granting every just and reasonable request of their sister Churches in these States; and, therefore,

Resolved—4th, That the Right Rev. Dr. White and the Right Rev. Dr. Provost be, and they hereby are requested to join with the Right Rev. Dr. Seabury, in complying with the prayer of the Clergy of the states of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, for the consecration of the Rev. Edward Bass, Bishop elect of the Churches in the said States; but that, before the said Bishops comply with the request aforesaid, it be proposed to the Churches in the New England States to meet the Churches of these States, with the said three Bishops, in an adjourned Convention, to settle certain articles of union and discipline among all the Churches, previous to such consecration.

5th, That if any difficulty or delicacy, in respect to the Archbishops and Bishops of England shall remain with the Right Rev. Drs. White and Provost, or either of them, concerning their compliance with the above request, this Convention will address the Archbishops and Bishops, and hope thereby to remove the difficulty.

We have now, most venerable Fathers, submitted to your consideration whatever relates to this important business of union among all our Churches in these United States. It was our original and sincere intention to have obtained three Bishops, at least, immediately consecrated by the Bishops of England, for the seven States comprehended within our present union. But that intention being frustrated through unforeseen circumstances, we could not wish to deny any present assistance, which may be found in our power to give to any of our sister Churches, in that way which may be most acceptable to them, and in it self legal and expedient.

We ardently pray for the continuance of your favour and blessing, and that, as soon as the urgency of other weighty concerns of the Church will allow, we may be favoured with that fatherly advice and direction, which to you may appear most for the glory of God and the prosperity of our Churches, upon the consideration of the foregoing documents and papers.

Done in Convention, this eighth day of August, 1789, and directed to be signed by all the members as the act of their body, and by the President officially.

[Bishop White to the Archbishop of Canterbury.]

Most Rev. Father in God:

When I had y^e honor of taking leave of your Grace at Lambeth, and even when I addressed you after my return to Philadelphia, I little expected that there would again come under your Grace's deliberation any difficulty in y^e concerns of a Church for which you had so affectionately interposed your good offices. And it was my opinion that nothing remained but y^e presentation of a third candidate with y^e recommendations which had been prescribed.

It was not long, however, before an application came to me from y^e Church in Virginia, a similar one being sent to my Brother, Bishop Provost, desiring us to consecrate y^e worthy gentleman who had been before appointed by y^e Church to repair to England for consecration. But although we have on all occasions done your Grace y^e justice to declare how far you have been from imposing any restrictions interfering with the ecclesiastical independence which has arisen from y^e civil Revolution in our country, yet we thought there were obligations laid on us, by y^e nature of y^e transaction, and especially by those addresses of our Conventions which had received y^e interpretation of y^e English Prelates. The responsibility I profess on this subject must be my apology for troubling your Grace with my enclosed answer to y^e proposal from Virginia. Bishop Provoost sent a similar answer, and we have y^e satisfaction of knowing that our conduct was agreeable to y^e Churches in which we respectively preside. Owing either to neglect, manifested by y^e Church in Virginia, or else some causes of which I am not a competent judge, y^e worthy Dr. Griffith found himself obliged by Providence, honor and delicacy, to resign his appointment, and has lately deceased, much lamented by a numerous acquaintance in this part of America. So that, at present, there is not the least appearance of a speedy appointment for consecration from any State southward of this, of which I pretend not to assign y^e cause; although I can declare y^e full belief, and I think I may say knowledge, that it is not from any desire of relinquishing Episcopal Government and Ordination. But within a short time, Bishop Provoost and I have received an application from y^e Clergy of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, requesting us to join with y^e Right Rev. Bishop Seabury, in y^e consecration of their Bishop elect. Bishop Provoost's indisposition, by occasioning his absence from y^e late Convention, made it necessary for me to make up my mind without his opinion and advice, although I entertain no doubts of his concurrence. The principles governing me in y^e whole of this business, require me to lay before your Grace my answer to y^e Clergy of y^e aforesaid applicant States, which I shall accordingly enclose.

There will be forwarded to your Grace, by this opportunity, y^e proceedings of y^e General Convention on y^e above business; of which I have only to remark, that if in y^e issue it should appear, from respect to y^e Convention, as I wish it may, either that I am released from my obligations, or that I have been mistaken in y^e supposing of them, there is neither principle nor personal considerations that can for a moment prevent my joining in y^e solicited consecration. On y^e contrary, all my endeavours have tended to an union with our Eastern Brethren, still in consistency with y^e completing of y^e succession from England.

I cannot conclude without taking notice, that by y^e blessing of God, your Grace's labors for y^e Church in which I preside have not been unsuccessful. I have had y^e satisfaction of supplying, not only y^e Church in this State, but also very many distant Churches with, I trust, able and faithful Pastors. The apostolic rite of Confirmation has been of great efficacy in calling y^e attention of many to y^e other ordinances of religion, and in every respect there appears an increasing desire, in all y^e different orders of our Church, to promote her prosperity. And what adds greatly to our happiness, we live in uninterrupted unity among ourselves, and in peace with our fellow-Christians of other persuasions. My parochial engagements prevent my wholly devoting of myself to y^e duties of y^e Episcopacy; although in this respect my situation has been considerably bettered by y^e generosity of y^e Vestry of my Churches, who have given me additional assistance, on such a plan as considerably relieves me from y^e more fatiguing duties of y^e pastoral charge.

I beg, my Lord, to present my most respectful compliments to Mrs. Moore, whose polite attentions I still hold in grateful remembrance.

Commending myself and y^e Church under my care, to your Grace's prayers, I have y^e honour to subscribe myself
Your Grace's obliged and very humble Servant,

W^m. WHITE.*

[Rev. Dr. Smith to Rt. Rev. Bp. Seabury.]

From the original draft in Dr. Smith's hand-writing, (endorsed,)

August 16th, 1789.

Right Rev'd and dear Sir:

I was happy to receive your letter of 23d July, in answer to mine of the 13th, from New York, which came to hand at a very critical moment, viz: the first day of our Convention, and enabled me to be more effectually instrumental in projecting and prosecuting, I trust, to a nobler issue, the plan of an union of all our Churches, than your letter of a prior date to Bishop White, gave us room to hope. The healing and charitable idea of "an efficacious union and communion in all Essentials of Doctrine, as well as Discipline, notwithstanding some differences in the usages of Churches," in which your letter as well as mine agreed, and which was at the same time strongly held up in the Address of the Churches of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and also in Dr. Parker's Letter, gave an opening at last, as well by a new clause, viz: the 2d in our ecclesiastical Constitution, as by 5 Resolves unanimously passed, to lay the foundation of an union, whereon a superstructure may be raised, against which even the gates of Hell shall never prevail.

The 4th of those Resolves, inviting you through the door so widely opened, to meet us in the Convention at Philadelphia, adjourned for that end to Sept'r 29th, is the preliminary Article of this union; and I scarce entertain a doubt but that the great Head of the Church will, by His blessed Spirit, so replenish our hearts with love; and so bless our joint councils, that we shall attain a perfect uniformity in all our Churches: or, what is, perhaps, alike lovely in the sight of God, a perfect harmony and brotherly agreement wherever, through local circumstances and use, smaller differences may prevail.

You will see from our printed journal herein enclosed, that, in a committee of the whole, the business of the Eastern Churches engaged our attention for the first five days of our sitting, and though a desire of union was every where evident among the members, yet much difficulty and variety of sentiment and apprehension prevailed as to the means, in-so-far that there appeared more than a probability of coming to no conclusion. In this stage of the business, I requested a postponement for one night, on the promise of proposing something against next morning which might meet the apprehensions of all; as we all had but one great object of union in view: and I shall

* From the original draft, in the hand-writing of Bishop White and preserved among his papers.

Philadelphia, Aug. 16th, 1789.

Bishop Seabury :

Right Rev Sir :

Your letter to the Right Rev. Bishop White, and also yours of a posterior date to the Rev. Dr. Smith, were laid before the General Convention of our Churches, and read with that deference and regard which are due to the communications of the Bishop and Pastor of a respectable sister Church.

As we "feel equally with you the necessity of a general union of all our Churches in the United States, and lament whatever may occur as tending towards the continuance of disunion," those parts of your letters which had any reference to this important point became the immediate subject of the most affectionate, candid and serious discussion; leaving every other part, either to future joint deliberations, or to be noticed in the answers of the gentlemen to whom your letters were, in part, personally addressed.

As a committee appointed for that purpose, we herewith transmit to you the printed proceedings of our Convention, and also a copy of our Address to the Archbishops and Bishops of England. By those documents you will readily perceive, that nothing hath been left unattempted on our part, which we conceived to be conducive, either towards the basis or superstructure of an union, so seemly and needful in itself, and so ardently desired by all.

By the second Article of our printed Constitution (as now amended) you will observe that your first and chief difficulty respecting Lay representation is wholly removed, upon the good and wise principles admitted by you as well as by us, viz: "That there may be a strong and efficacious union between Churches, where the usages are in some respects different." It was long so in the different dioceses of England.

By the Article of our Constitution above mentioned, the admission of yours and the other Eastern Churches is provided for upon your own principles of representation; while our Churches are not required to make any sacrifice of theirs; it being declared "That the Church in each state shall be entitled to a representation either of Clergy, or Laity, or of both. And in case the Convention [or Church] of any state should neglect or decline to appoint their deputies of either order, or if it should be their rule to appoint only out of one order; or if any of those appointed should neglect to attend, or be prevented by sickness, or any other accident, the Church in such state, [district or diocese] shall, nevertheless, be considered as duly represented by such deputy or deputies as may attend, of either order."

Here, then, every case is intended to be provided for, and experience will either demonstrate that an efficacious union may be had upon these principles; or mutual good will, and a further reciprocation of sentiments will eventually lead to a more perfect uniformity of Discipline as well as of Doctrine.

ever rejoice in it as the happiest incident of my life, and the best service I have ever been able to render to our Church, that the Resolves which were offered the next morning were unanimously and almost instantly adopted, as reconciling every sentiment, and removing every difficulty which had before appeared to obstruct a general union.

Bishop White, whom I consulted in framing the Resolves, and Dr. Moore, of New York, and Mr. (now Dr.) Smith, of South Carolina, were particularly zealous in whatever tended to promote this good work; and I am well assured that you are in some mistake respecting Bishop White's having declined a "Proposal" for your joining with him and Bishop P. in consecrating a fourth Bishop. He has assured me, and also declared in Convention, that no such proposal was ever made to him; and I believe he has written, or will write to you on this subject. His whole conduct, wherever your name and Episcopate have been mentioned, does him honour, and is perfectly agreeable to his well-known excellent temper, and zeal for the peace and unity of the Church. It was Dr. White who seconded, on a former occasion, my motion for not suffering any question in Convention, which might imply even a doubt of the validity of your consecration, and that at a time when admitting a doubt of that kind was considered by some as a good means of forwarding his own and Dr. Provost's consecration.

No, I cannot have the least doubt of your attending the adjourned Convention, according to the truly respectable invitation given you. I must again repeat the invitation, that you will make my house your home, or place of residence, during your stay in Philadelphia. The Rev. Dr. Moore, of New York, will be my other and only guest, in the chamber adjoining yours, and he will accompany you from New York or Elizabeth to my house in Philadelphia, as you may agree: and I trust you will be with us a day or two before the 29th of Sept'r, rather than a day after, as we shall be pressed in respect of time.

I have enclosed some printed Proposals for publishing a body of sermons, in 4 or 5 vols., and have written on a blank leaf, (after the recommendation given to the design by Convention) what would be my wish respecting your approbation and recommendation of it to your Clergy.

The College of Philadelphia have, on Dr. White's recommendation and mine, granted the degree of D. D. to the Rev. Mr. Bass and Mr. Parker, which we thought a proper compliment to the New England Churches. We are sorry we forgot to pay the same compliment to the venerable old Mr. Leaning, of the Connecticut Church. I hope he will accompany you to Philadelphia, and receive that compliment from us in person, if he has no where else received it before.

[The representation in those states where the Church appoints Clerical deputies only, or chooses to be wholly represented by its Bishop, will be considered as complete; and as it cannot be supposed that the Clergy will ever neglect to avail themselves of their voice and negative, in every ecclesiastical decision, so neither can the Laity complain in those states where they claim no representation; and still less where they are declared to have a voice, and claim a representation, but neglect to avail themselves of their claim: which latter is too likely to be the case in some of the states within our present union, where it is difficult to procure any Lay representation, although earnestly solicited by some of the Clergy, who are fully sensible of the advantages derived to our former Conventions, from the wise and temperate counsels, and the respectable countenance and assistance of our Lay-members.]

As to the second point, respecting your own consecration and the Scots Episcopacy, we are persuaded that you have fallen into some misapprehension concerning an entry made in the Journal of a former Convention, or have been misinformed of the circumstances attending it. Nothing was ever agitated in that Convention concerning the Scots Episcopacy, but the contrary. You may perceive by the Journal, that the Convention refused to come to any Resolution which would imply even a doubt of the validity of your consecration; and the proceedings of the present Convention upon that subject, we are persuaded, will be more than sufficient to remove every obstacle of our future union, which might have been apprehended on that score.

As the last and greatest proof which we could give of respect for our sister Churches, and our desire of their assistance in the completion of our ecclesiastical system, we have postponed every thing, except what was intended immediately to open the door of union: and have adjourned our Convention till the 29th day of September, in the full confidence of then meeting a representation from all the Churches in the Eastern States, for the purpose of devising and executing such measures as, through the blessing of God, may concentrate all our future labours in the promotion of truth and righteousness, and for preserving our Church in the unity of the Spirit, and the bond of peace.

We hope that the time to which the Convention had adjourned may be found convenient to you and to your Churches. An early day was necessary, as the members from some of the Southern States could neither be detained long from home, nor return to their respective charges, with any prospect of attending at any more remote day, during the present year.

The day to which the adjournment was made, viz: Tuesday, September 29th, falls one week before the annual meeting of the Corporation for the relief of the widows and children of the Clergy, for the states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, of which you are a member; and the very existence of that pious and charitable institution depends upon our obtaining a full board for the explaining and amending some of the fundamental laws. It was, therefore, proper to make the adjournment of the Convention a week earlier than the meeting of the Corporation, that the business of both might be better transacted without interference: and the City of Philadelphia is the place where, according to Charter, the Corporation is to meet this present year: and, exclusive of this consideration, Philadelphia was considered as more central and convenient, as well as less expensive, perhaps, to the members, than New York during the sessions of Congress, and the present concourse of strangers to that city.

We have now only to request your acknowledgement of the receipt of this Address as soon as convenient after it comes to your hand, with which we doubt not to have the agreeable assurance of meeting you (and such representation of your Church as your own rules may provide) in our adjourned Convention at Philadelphia, on the said 29th of September next.

We are, with all respect,

Your affectionate Brethren and humble Servants,

Two letters written the same day by the Bishops of Connecticut and New York, the one before the writer was acquainted with the final action of the Convention; the other, with that action fully understood, next claim our notice. The readiness of Bishop Seabury for the union, and the stubborn opposition of Bishop Provost to any measure for comprehension and conciliation, are marked and suggestive features of these characteristic communications.

New London, Aug. 26th, 1789.

Rev. and dear Sir:

Have you yet heard the result of your application to the Southern Bishops respecting Mr. Bass's consecration? The Rev. Dr. Moore, of New York, informs me the application was referred to the Convention, and directions given to write to the English Bishops for their opinion. These steps to me look queer, and shew a degree of thralldom, both to the Convention and English Archbishops, that ought not to be. Dr. Moore urges me very strongly to go to the adjourned Convention at Philadelphia, Sept. 29. And as they have removed the objections I made, I should be much inclined to go, was it not for the promise I made of visiting Portsmouth at that time. Having before twice disappointed them, I know not how to apologize again. Let me have your opinion on that matter, and also whether I ought to go to Philadelphia without an official invitation, which yet I have not received.

So far had I written, when the post brought me the proper official invitation, with the various communications from the Convention. These, I suppose, you will also receive by the post. I have determined to go to Philadelphia, and hope to see you there. Time will not permit me to add more, than that I am

Your affectionate, humble Servant,

REV. DR. PARKER.

[Bishop Provost to Bishop White.]

— How far I shall be able in future to act in concert with the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church will depend upon the proceedings at their next meeting. The delegates from New York have grossly deviated from their instructions, which were worded, with their consent, and at my particular request, in a manner that was intended to prevent their accession to any scheme of union, which might be purchased at the expense of the general constitution, which had been ratified in the Church of New York since my return from Europe, or which might endanger the preservation of the succession of our Bishops in the English line. I shall only add upon the subject, that it is not an absolution from the Archbishops and Bishops of England, that will induce me to sacrifice the principles upon which I first entered into the union, and upon which I have since uniformly acted.

Your affectionate Brother,

SAM'L PROVOOST.†

New York, August 26th, 1789.

The following day Bishop Seabury replied to the letter from Bishop White we have printed a little before. It is brief, but to the point; and in its prompt acceptance of the invitation to Philadelphia, and in its expression of a full determination to overcome all obstacles in the way to securing a representation from Connecticut, it must have borne to the amiable Bishop of Pennsylvania the earnest of the coming day of union, peace and love.

Rt. Rev'd and dear Sir:

The post coming late in the evening into this town, and going out early the next morning, prevents my saying more than to acknowledge the receipt of your favour of the 12th instant, and to inform you that I will, God permitting, most willingly join you at your adjourned Convention, the 29th Sept.

The time is so short, that I fear we shall not be able to get our dispersed Clergy together; but every thing shall be done that can be done: and I presume, on so sudden an emergency, any little informality in the appointment of their representatives will be overlooked.

Accept my wishes for your health and usefulness, and my acknowledgments for your kind attentions. Will you do me the favour to acquaint Dr. Smith, that I have received his communications, and to thank him for them. It is impossible for me to write now to him; and, indeed, it is unnecessary, as I hope so soon to have a personal interview with him.

Believe me, Rt. Rev'd and dear Sir, to be

Bishop White was not wanting in efforts to conciliate the Bishop of New York. We have no means of re-producing his letters, which, if preserved, are not in our hands; but their general character can be inferred from the replies of Bishop Provost, which are still on file among the papers of his correspondent.

[Bishop Provost to Bishop White.]

Right Reverend and dear Sir:

— I am often surprised to find, that different persons will think so very differently upon the same subject. It was always my settled opinion, that the members of the General Convention, since their first meeting, were bound together by some general principles, which were to be kept inviolate as the basis of their union. Among these fundamental principles, the following stand foremost in my mind: I have always esteemed them as the best guard against an improper connection with other Churches, and I shall not readily consent to a deviation from them.

"There shall shall be in General Convention a representation of both Clergy and Laity of the Church in each state, &c.

"That in the said Church, in every State, there shall be a State Convention, consisting of Clerical and Lay Deputies."

* From the Bishop White Correspondence.

As to what you stile an implied engagement to the English Bishops, I look upon it, in regard to myself, as a positive one. I entered into it, Ex Animo, upon principle; and do not wish to ask or accept a release from it.

It is a fact not to be denied, that a General Convention was held out and recommended to the state Conventions of the Church for their consideration and ratification; or, if you choose another word, for their approbation and adoption. New York had considered and adopted it (this will appear from the minutes of our Convention which are in your hands; for they are printed no further than 1787,) and had an undoubted right to restrict their delegates from consenting to any alteration of it. That the New York delegates have grossly varied from their instructions, they themselves do not deny; and, if the professions of men are to be believed, some of them are much concerned at their conduct. Dr. Beach saw the letter I wrote to you, and assented to the truth of every part of it. This was all I intended to assert in my last.

If you knew the particular circumstances under which these instructions were given you would allow their variation from them to be inexcusable. But to give you a precise idea of this matter would require too long a detail for me to attempt, with the present disorder in my head. You will probably hear from me again before the meeting of the Convention.

I am, dear Sir, your affectionate Brother,

SAMUEL PROVOOST.*

New York, Sept. 7, 1789.

[Bishop Provost to Bishop White.]

Right Reverend and dear Sir:

When I wrote last, it was with so violent a disorder in my head, that it is not surprising if I did not express myself so fully as to prevent a possibility of misconception. I now sit down to answer the material parts of your last letter of Sept'r 15, 1789. And, in the first place, I shall give, in a few words, my reasons why the Delegates from New York were inexcusable in their deviation from their instructions. Previous to the meeting of the last state Convention, . . . should be instructed to promote a general union of the Episcopal Church in the United States. [Sic.]

I observed to Mr. Harrison, that I should oppose his motion, being perfectly convinced, that while he was seeking an imaginary union, he would eventually bring about a real schism; that, for my own part, I should never consent to any proposals for a union, which would risk the Constitution of our Church, or endanger the continuation of the succession of our Bishops in the English line. Mr. Harrison and the gentleman who sided with him replied, that they only wished for a union which would be consistent with the Constitution, and proposed succession from the English Bishops; and he endeavoured to vary the words of his motion in a manner that might afford me satisfaction; but, as I still thought the points I had at heart were not sufficiently guarded by his alterations, I had my dissent to the motion entered upon the Church Book. Expecting that the same motion would be renewed in the state Convention, which was to meet in a few days, I called the council of advice, consisting of the Reverend Drs. Beach, Moore, and Mr. Duane, to take their opinions how I might most effectually oppose it, and with the least altercation. It was the sentiment of Dr. Moore, that Mr. Harrison should draw up his motion so particularly, and the Delegates to the General Convention be tied down so strictly to an adherence to the Articles which I requested might be secured, that my scruples as to any intention of varying from them might be entirely removed. This we all consented to. The resolve was accordingly drawn up by Mr. Harrison in words I inclosed to you. It was submitted next morning to the inspection of Mr. Duane and myself, and being deemed satisfactory, was permitted to pass in Convention without objection. I now remained perfectly easy in my own mind, concluding that whatever change might take place in the sentiments and proceedings of the General Convention, the members of the Church of New York would continue united among themselves. My expectations have been a little disappointed, but whatever may be the event, I shall always endeavour to preserve a consistency of character and conduct.

I must still insist upon it, that the general principles mentioned — —* the great leading principles which the gentlemen assembled at New York, in 1784, understood they were to act upon. This appears from the State Conventions, consisting of Clergy and Laity, that were immediately formed by the Churches that these were to unite upon the system we had agreed on. These principles are in fact virtually contained in the printed proceedings of that meeting. They were more fully expressed and incorporated in the constitutions recommended by the Conventions of '85 and '86, and they were decided upon in the Convention held at Wilmington, in October, '86, as is evident from the following words, extracted from the minutes, page 14:

"A question was then proposed and seconded, viz.: Whether the Convention hath authority to admit members, persons deriving their appointment not from a State Convention, but from a particular parish or parishes only? On the question being put, it was determined in the negative."

"Another question was then proposed and seconded, viz.: Whether this Convention can consistently with its fundamental articles admit a State to be represented by a Clerical or Lay Deputy only? Which was also determined in the negative.”*

* Two or three words in the MS. are illegible at this place.

I shall now endeavour to prove that the State Convention of New York had ratified or adopted the general constitution submitted to their consideration, as fully as the General Convention or any reasonable person could have required.

If you will examine again our minutes, page 16, you will find these words: “The eight first articles approved of by the last Convention were again ratified.”† You will also find that the ninth, which relates to the new Prayer Book, was received in the manner recommended by the General Convention, “the respective congregations of this Church be at liberty to use the new form of Prayer,” &c.,‡ page 17, “approved of by last Convention.” The addition proposed to the sixth article was only recommendatory. The article itself had been before unconditionally adopted.

I have enlarged more upon this than was necessary for the argument in my former letter; for if our Convention had only adopted the 2d and 3d articles of the Constitution, they would unquestionably have had a right to tie down their delegates to a strict observance of the said two articles.

I have read the above to John Jay and James Duane, Esqs., who entirely agree with me in sentiment, and allow it to be a true and accurate statement of facts. I again enclose a copy of the instructions to the New York delegates, which it may perhaps be proper for you to lay before the Convention, as I shall not think myself bound by any proceedings of said delegates which run counter to the tenor of their instructions.

I thank you for the concern you express at my disorder. It is not a new complaint with me. I was once before confined with it for near three months. Though something better for the last few days, I shall not be able to attend Convention.

I should have added a line or two concerning the nature of my engagements to the English Bishops; but as my paper is nearly exhausted and my complaint returning, I must conclude.

Your most affectionate Brother,

SAMUEL PROVOOST.§

[Copy of a Resolve passed in the last Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the State of New York.]

Upon motion of Mr. Harrison, seconded by Mr. Rogers, it was universally Resolved, That it is highly necessary, in the opinion of this Convention, that measures should be pursued to preserve the Episcopal Succession in the English line; and resolved, also, that the union of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in the United States of America, is of great importance and much to be desired, and that the delegates of this State, in the next General Convention, be instructed to promote that union by every prudent measure consistent with the constitution of the Church, and the continuance of the Episcopal Succession in the English line.

A long and interesting letter, written by Dr. Parker to his brother-in-law, on the 27th of September, from New York, after mentioning his interview with Bishop Seabury and Messrs. Jarvis and Hubbard, at Dr. Benjamin Moore's, gives us some interesting chat with reference to the whole matter:

“I shall set out to-morrow for Philadelphia, if the weather permits. But I have some presentiments that nothing will be accomplished by the Convention. The aspect is unfavourable in this quarter, and I find that a certain gentleman* who has interested himself in Church matters in Massachusetts, was set at work by some characters here who are opposing a union with Bishop Seabury with great vehemence. If they go to the Convention, and have any influence, we shall bring nothing to pass. Bishop Provoost, Mr. Duane, the Mayor, and one other person here, are the characters I allude to. Provoost will not go to Philadelphia.”†

Happily these presentiments were not verified. There remains among the interesting papers preserved by Bishop White, a dingy yellow half sheet of paper bearing these words:

“We do hereby agree to the Constitution of the Church, as modified this day in the Convention. 2d October, 1789.

* Dudley Atkins Tyng ? † From the Bishop Parker Correspondence.

The Rev. Dr. Beach, from New York, the Rev. Mr. Frazer, and James Parker, Esq., from New Jersey, and James Sykes, Esq., from Delaware, took their seats in Convention.

Mr. Joseph Borden Hopkinson, was admitted an Assistant Secretary.

Mr. John Rumsey produced credentials as a Lay Deputy from the State of Maryland, and was admitted to his seat. . . .

The Convention then resolved itself into a Committee of the whole, agreeably to the order of the day.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Smith in the chair.

And after some time rose and reported the following resolve, viz: Resolved, That for the better promotion of an union of this Church with the Eastern Churches, the General Constitution established at the last session of this Convention is yet open to amendment and alterations, by virtue of the powers delegated to this Convention.

The question being put on this Report, and a division called for, it was determined in the affirmative.

On motion, Resolved, That a Committee be appointed to confer with the Deputies from the Eastern Churches, on the subject of the proposed union with those Churches. Whereupon,

The Rev. Dr. William Smith, the Rev. Dr. Robert Smith, Rev Dr. Benjamin Moore, Richard Harrison, and Tench Coxe, Esqrs., were chosen for this purpose. . . .

Adjourned, to meet at the State House to-morrow morning.

Friday, October 2d, 1789.

The Convention met.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Smith read prayers.

The Rev. Dr. William Smith, from the Committee appointed to confer with the Deputies, from the Churches of New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut, concerning a plan of union among all the Protestant Episcopal Churches in the United States of America, reported as follows:

That they have had full, free and friendly conference with the deputies of the said Churches, who, on behalf of the Church in their several States, and by virtue of sufficient authority from them, have signified that they do not object to the Constitution which was approved at the former session of this Convention, if the third article of that Constitution may be so modified as to declare explicitly the right of the Bishops, when sitting in a separate House, to originate and propose acts for the concurrence of the other House of Convention, and to negative such acts proposed by the other House as they may disapprove. Your Committee conceiving this alteration to be desirable in itself, as having a tendency to give greater stability to the Constitution, without diminishing any security that is now possessed by the Clergy or Laity; and being sincerely impressed with the importance of an union to the future prosperity of the

It is this half sheet of paper which attests the Church's return to unity and peace.

But there had been certain changes wrought in the Constitution of the Church, by the voluntary action of this Convention, ere these signatures were attached to the instrument of union. These changes, as recorded in the proceedings of the Convention, are as follows:

Christ Church, Wednesday, September 30th, 1789.

The Convention met.

The Right Rev. Dr. White presided, ex officio.

The Rev. Mr. Bracken read prayers.

The Rev. Mr. Bracken, Clerical Deputy from the Church in Virginia,* produced testimonials of his appointment, which being read and approved, he took his seat.

The Right Rev. Dr. Samuel Seabury, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Connecticut, attended, to confer with the Convention, agreeably to the invitation given him, in consequence of a resolve passed at their late session; and the Rev. Dr. Samuel Parker, Deputy from the Churches in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and the Rev. Mr. Bela Hubbard and the Rev. Mr. Abraham Jarvis, Deputies from the Church in Connecticut, produced testimonials of their appointment to confer with the Convention, in consequence of a similar invitation.

These testimonials were read and deemed satisfactory.

The Right Rev. Dr. Seabury produced his Letters of Consecration to the holy office of a Bishop in this Church, which were read and ordered to be recorded.

Resolved, That this Convention will, to-morrow, go into a Committee of the whole, on the subject of the proposed union with the Churches in the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut, as now represented in Convention.

Christ Church, Thursday, October 1st, 1789.

The Convention met.

The Rev. Mr. Rowe read prayers.

* This being an adjourned Convention, testimonials were only required from new members.

Convention. There being three Bishops in the Church, the House of Bishops was organized, Bishop Seabury presiding.

The "Proposed Book" having never been ratified as the service book of the American Church, there was, mainly through the influence of the delegates from the Eastern States, a return to the English Prayer Book, as the basis of the new compilation.

A body of canons was also prepared. Bishop Seabury was requested to preach the opening sermon at the next meeting of the Convention; and among the closing proceedings, the following Report gives the final action of the Convention with reference to the measures for union:

The Committee on the Means of Perpetuating the Episcopal Succession in the United States of America, made the following report, which was read and adopted, viz:

The Committee on the Means of Perpetuating the Episcopal Succession in these United States, are of opinion—

That the Standing Committee, which, agreeably to the Constitution, is chosen, as above, to act during the recess of the General Convention, ought, in the name of the Convention, to recommend for consecration any person who shall appear to them to be duly elected and qualified for the Episcopal office. That should any person, elected and qualified as above, be proposed, and should the answer from the English Archbishops be favourable to the intended plan of consecrating by the Right Rev. the Bishops Seabury, White and Provost, the Committee shall write to the said three Bishops, intimating that it is the will and desire of the General Convention, that such consecration should, as soon as convenient, take place. That, should the answer from England be unfavourable, or any obstacle occur, by the death of either of the three Bishops, or otherwise, the said Committee shall recommend any Bishop elect to England, for consecration.*

We have thus traced in our pages, the history of the Church in Connecticut, from the coming of the first Missionary to the Province, up to the admission of the Church, with its Bishop, to the general union of the Episcopal Churches in the land. Our work consisting almost exclusively of documents hitherto unpublished, or else rarely accessible, even to students of our annals, cannot fail of presenting many facts of interest, hitherto unknown to our readers. As such we commend it to their perusal and support.

Church, do therefore recommend to the Convention a compliance with the wishes of their brethren, and that the third article of the Constitution may be altered accordingly. Upon such alteration being made, it is declared by the Deputies from the Churches in the Eastern States, that they will subscribe the Constitution, and become members of this General Convention.

Upon special motion, the above report was read a second time; whereupon the following resolution was proposed, viz:

Resolved, That the Convention do adopt that part of the report of the Committee, which proposes to modify the Third Article of the Constitution, so as to declare explicitly "the right of the Bishops, when sitting in a separate House, to originate and propose acts for concurrence of the other House of Convention, and to negative such acts proposed by the other House as they may disapprove, provided they are not adhered to by four-fifths of the other House."

After some debate, the resolution, with the proviso annexed, was agreed upon, and the Third Article was accordingly modified in the manner following:

ART. 3. The Bishops of this Church, when there shall be three or more, shall, whenever General Conventions are held, form a separate House, with a right to originate and propose acts for the concurrence of the House of Deputies composed of Clergy and Laity; and when any proposed act shall have passed the House of Deputies, the same shall be transmitted to the House of Bishops, who shall have a negative thereupon, unless adhered to by four-fifths of the other House; and all acts of the Convention shall be authenticated by both Houses. And, in all cases, the House of Bishops shall signify to the Convention their approbation or disapprobation, the latter, with their reasons in writing, within three days after the proposed act shall have been reported to a law. But until there shall be three or more Bishops as aforesaid, any Bishop attending a General Convention, shall be a member ex officio, and shall vote with the Clerical Deputies of the State to which he belongs: and a Bishop shall then preside.

On motion, Resolved, That it be made known to the several state Conventions, that it is proposed to consider and determine, in the next General Convention, on the propriety of investing the House of Bishops with a full negative upon the proceedings of the other House.

Ordered, that the General Constitution of this Church, as now altered and amended, be laid before the Right Rev. Dr. Seabury, and the Deputies from the Churches in the Eastern States, for their approbation and assent.*

This assent, as we have seen, was duly given, and the Bishop of Connecticut and his deputies, together with Dr. Parker, as deputy from Massachusetts and New Hampshire, took seats in the
